Interesting Exhibits at Fair Fascinate Young and Old

"Oh! How does it stay in the air?" asks Mrs. June Hodge, 590 Boleskine Road, bewildered at the floating globe in an exhibit at the B.C. Products and Agriculture Fair. She was one of about 12,000 who attended on opening day yesterday.

Industry and agriculture are well represented at the B.C. Products Fair. Little three-and-a-half-year-old Dalas Smith, 1650 Broadmead Avenue, mounted one of the bright, new tractors on display and would have driven away except his legs were too short.

"Step right up, ladies and gentlemen," goes the cry of the traditional carnival barker to be heard at the fair. But it didn't take a barker to get 16-year-old Joan Smithson, 2649 Thompson, to step up to the floss candy stand. She never had tried it before but she likes it. (See Page 15.)

Fire Staffs May Be Cut By Council

Mayor Suggests Hall Be Closed

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

Staff reductions in the fire department were called for last night by city council to offset increases in departmental expenditures this year.

Fire Chief Frank Briers, who told aldermen his force was already so depleted that major fires this year had left the rest of the city virtually unprotected, was ordered to bring in a report today showing how savings can be made.

Council postponed consideration of the fire department estimates pending receipt of the report.

The fire department expects to spend $426,959 in 1954. This total does not include the 3 per cent $13,295 wage increase won by fire fighters this year.

Mayor Harrison opened debate on fire department estimates by saying it appeared "there ought to be a reduction."

He suggested that perhaps another fire hall should be closed.

(Council closed the Yates Street fire hall in 1952 and reduced staff when firemen won a 17 per cent wage increase.)

Ald. Robert Macmillan asked the mayor which firehall he would recommend closing.

JAMES BAY HALL

The mayor suggested the James Bay Hall, adding that he understood Chief Briers had recommended such a move.

"At no time have I recommended closing any hall," countered Chief Briers.

Ald. Brent Murdoch asked if it would be possible to close the Burnside hall and open a small hall in Victoria West in order to give greater protection.

"It would give greater protection to Victoria West," replied the chief.

"Would it cost less?"

Chief Briers said his department had been so depleted that during the outbreak of major fires this year the city was lucky no other big fires broke out while they were in progress.

Ald. Millard Mooney said four men are on duty per shift at city halls. He suggested this might be cut to three men, but did not favor cutting out another fire hall.

CUT FAVORED

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow also favored cutting staff but not closing another hall to absorb the increase in estimates.

Alderman Macmillan observed it is unfortunate that it is usually the ones who have had no part in attempting to secure wage increases who turn out to be the ones who are let out.

"The top brass—the ones who have been agitating for these increases are left intact," he said.

Council adjourned discussion of fire department estimates pending receipt of the chief's recommendations today.

Consideration of police estimates, also swelled by a 3 per cent wage increase, were tabled indefinitely pending action by the police commission which is studying possible ways of reducing the departmental budget.

French Spurn Surrender Demand

Communist Big Guns Pound Defenders of Dien Bien Phu

HANOI (Tuesday) (UP)—Communist big guns and heavy mortars smashed at Dien Bien Phu today after the beleaguered French garrison defiantly spurned Red demands that it "surrender or die."

The Communist artillery opened up with a saturating fire as determined Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries sent out small French patrols to probe for weak spots in the choking Rebel ring around Indo-China's key fortress.

The Communist attackers demanded Monday over loud speakers set up on the battlefield that the weary French defenders surrender. The French high command's answer was a defiant notice it was pouring more reinforcements into the besieged fortress.

PLANES ROAR IN

U.S.-supplied Corsair fighter bombers, flown by French pilots roared in today under low clouds in frantic efforts to aid the small garrison—now operating in an area less than a mile square.

Despite the Communist artillery barrages, de Castries was countering Viet Minh sires into his dwindling territory with swift strengthening of the French defenses.

Today's Red artillery barrage broke a lull which followed the week-end mass attack against the French fortress.

The Reds abruptly broke off their mass assault on the key fortress of Indo-China after the slashing bayonets of French foreign legionnaires had thrown it into reverse. They drove the enemy from outpost Isabelle.

Red Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap then swung over to a propaganda offensive. Loudspeakers set up on the shell-torn and blood-soaked battlefield blared a demand that Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries "surrender or die."

Direct Help Favored

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican leader William Knowland said Monday night he would lead a Senate fight to send United States troops to Indo-China if President Eisenhower decides it is necessary.

"I do believe Indo-China is the key to southeast Asia, and southeast Asia is the key to the balance of Asia," he said.

Senator Knowland said he believed the French and British at the Geneva conference are prepared to negotiate a Far East "Munich" by yielding to Communist pressure.

Rewarded

NURSE GENEVIEVE DE GALARD TERRAUBE

Gallant Nurse Honored

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters) — Nurse Genevieve de Galard Terraube, the only woman in the beleaguered garrison of Dien Bien Phu, has been awarded the Legion of Honor, one of France's highest awards, it was learned Monday.

Gen. Christian de Castries, commander of the hard-pressed garrison, pinned the decoration on the slim, 28-year-old Parisienne as rebel shells crashed on Dien Bien Phu.

Genevieve, a pretty, chestnut-haired air force pilot-nurse, has been in Dien Bien Phu ever since rebel fire disabled her helicopter March 28. For five weeks, she has been on duty day and night caring for 800 wounded men in dimly-lighted underground shelters.

She is the daughter of a viscountess and a member of one of France's oldest military families.

Estimate Sliced

Parley Funds Cause Sparks

Question of sending civic officials to professional conventions caused sparks to fly last night as aldermen continued review of the city budget.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow objected to spending $2,537 to send 13 officials to 23 conventions this year.

The mayor agreed.

"What good does it do?" he asked.

Ald. William Pinfold replied that any "solid businessman send his key employees to professional conventions to learn new ideas."

"They don't send their men to Harrison Hot Springs for a drunk," returned the mayor.

Alderman Edgelow said only $533 should be included to allow the city manager, the comptroller, the engineer and the fire chief to attend conventions this year.

"Surely we are not going to pull a hood over our heads and not let our employees know what others are doing in other municipalities," argued Alderman Pinfold.

SAVE THOUSANDS

"One idea that one employee brings back is liable to save this city thousands of dollars," he said.

Ald. Brent Murdoch suggested the total be reduced by only $537.

"You can leave me out," said City Manager Cecil Wyatt. "I wouldn't go under any circumstances after some of the remarks made here tonight."

The manager said the conventions list was a very selective one.

"The value that will come back from these trips is immeasurable," he advised.

Alderman Edgelow withdrew his original motion.

Alderman Pinfold moved that the $2,537 item be left in the budget but Alderman Murdoch's amendment that the total be reduced by $537 passed by a vote of 4 to 2 with Alderman Edgelow refraining from voting.

Earlier the mayor had objected to the city remaining a member of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

"I dont see what good we get out of the UBCM," he said. "I the guards and making a break don't see where we get one for freedom.

dollar's advantage. We get stuck every time."

An item in the budget calling for expenditure of $3000 on public relations in 1954 included $1,500 for playing host to the UBCM during its annual convention here in the fall.

Alderman Murdoch agreed that every member who attended the last UBCM convention in Vancouver felt it was a waste of time because it dealt only with minor briefs for submission to the government.

"They could be a powerful organization but as they exist they aren't," he said.

"I'm against going on as a member of the UBCM," said the mayor. "It's purely humbug."

The mayor said Victoria was stuck with entertaining UBCM delegates this year, "but I hope next year we're out."

To Be Compulsory

New Insurance Plan Set for Civil Service

BY TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Legislation for a system of compulsory life insurance for the federal civil service is to be written into the Superannuation Act at the present session. It will also cover members of the armed forces.

Announcement to this effect is made by Prime Minister St. Laurent. Finance Minister Abbott enlarges on the announcement in an explantory statement.

CONFIRM PEARKES

The two statements confirm an exclusive interview with Major-General G. R. Pearkes, VC, member for Esquimalt-Saanich published in The Daily Colonist two weeks ago.

Mr. St. Laurent said a bill will be introduced this session "to round out the Superannuation Act by providing a system of contributory death benefits for civil servants and members of the regular forces, and to discontinue the issuing of individual policies under the Civil Service Insurance Act."

Limit of the insurance will be $5,000 or a year's salary, whichever is the lesser.

Korean Hopes Shattered

GENEVA (UP)—Communist China Monday shattered the last chance for agreement on Korea here with a bitter statement demanding that the United States repatriate more than 48,000 Communist war prisoners who have refused to return to their homelands.

Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai told the Geneva conference that the Chinese and North Korean prisoners are forcibly held. He proposed a repatriation plan which was immediately rejected by the United States.

However, the stage was set for prompt opening of Indo-China peace talks, probably by mid-week. The West was ready ing a plea for a truce to permit evacuation of wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

Chou charged that more than 27,000 North Korean and Red Chinese prisoners were "forcibly retained" by the South Koreans "with connivance of the U.S.," starting on June 18, 1953, and were "impressed into" the ROK army.

Prisoners Run Amok, 80 Escape

BOGOTA, Colombia (Reuters)—About 80 convicts escaped Sunday night from Cali Prison in West Colombia after a four-hour riot in which 300 prisoners drunk with alcohol and marijuana took part.

Only five of them had been recaptured by Monday night and the rest are believed to have hidden in the city's underworld.

Sunday visitors to the prison had smuggled in the drink and drugs.

Troops, police and fire brigades were called by the desperate prison staff, but the convicts succeeded in disarming

Aldermen Cut Costs $116,818

City Council, after three days of study, has reduced the 1954 budget by $116,818, or some 2.07 mills.

Council began last Thursday with a provisional budget calling for a tax rate of 56½ mills, a half-mill increase over last year's rate.

Aldermen, however, started looking for savings in anticipation of a mill rate of 57.74 to cover the half-mill increase in over-all expenses, the possibility of having to pay a 3-per-cent wage increase to inside and outside employees, and of having to increase charitable grants by some $20,000.

Budget review continues at 10 a.m. today.

Massey Welcome Dampened

WASHINGTON (CP) — Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey Monday received the most impressive reception this capital has ever given a Canadian governor-general—and the wettest.

A typical Washington summer storm broke just as Massey was being given the key of the city at a reception by federal District of Columbia officials on a dais in front of the District Building.

A few minutes later he arrived at the main portion of the White House to be welcomed by President Eisenhower whose guest he was Monday night.

McCarthy Hearings May Be Speeded Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Dirksen (R-Ill) said Monday night "serious consideration" is being given to limiting further testimony in the McCarthy-Pentagon hearings to Army Secretary Robert Stevens and Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Dirksen said he sponsored a motion adopted at a closed meeting of the Senate investigating committee to have counsel for all interested parties canvass methods of speeding up the hearings.

TWO WITNESSES

Monday night's speed-up meeting was held after John G. Adams, army counsel, took the stand briefly for the first time and sharply debated with McCarthy the meaning of a press release.

In the wake of this exchange Stevens denied any knowledge that Adams—as the McCarthy side charged—made threats to issue a "smear" report against McCarthy's chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, early this year.

Loud Malta Greeting Pauses for Unveiling

VALLETTA, Malta (Reuters)—Malta cut short a noisy welcome for two minutes of silence Monday as Queen Elizabeth unveiled a memorial to 2,300 Commonwealth airmen killed in defense of this Mediterranean island.

For the rest of the day, cheering crowds, church bells, sirens and fireworks greeted the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

It began early Monday when the Royal couple arrived here aboard the Royal yacht Britannia. A 21-gun salute was all that could be heard above the cheering.

HORNS IN

The noisy welcome followed the Queen as she drove through Valleta's narrow ancient streets. An escorting car got into the act when its horn jammed. The duke put his hands to his ears.

British and Australian airmen formed a guard of honor as Queen Elizabeth unveiled the 50-foot marble column.

"If we show in all our dealings the same integrity of purpose and same resolution in fulfilling it as shown by them in war," she said, "we shall be able to extract from the dark and desperate difficulties which beset us a victory no less glorious than that which we commemorate here today."

Prince Charles and Princess Anne stayed on the yacht as the Queen and the duke went ashore for a five-day visit.

How Fast Does a Hot Goldfish Cruise?

Pamphlets Just Waste to MP

OTTAWA (CP)—A member of parliament said Monday he tosses between 25 and 30 government publications into his wastepaper basket every week.

Ross Thatcher (CCF, Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) said in the Commons he is appalled at some of the publications distributed by the government. Many phamphlets, bulletins and other publications were of little value to taxpayers and millions of dollars could be saved if they were not printed, he said.

He complained of several publications listed in the annual catalogue of the Queen's Printer.

They included "the Cruising Speed of Gold Fish in Relation to Water Temperature," "Land Snails from the Canadian Rockies," and "Dinosaur Tracks from Peace River."

State Secretary Pickersgill said the publications are reprints of short articles in publications already in print. They were issued in pamphlet form to give the Queen's Printer a little extra revenue.

Mr. Pickersgill also asked Mr. Thatcher to forward to him all publications he received in the next month which he would consign to his wastepaper basket.

Mr. Thatcher said he would do so provided all publications of the Queen's Printer for the past year were assembled in the railway committee room of the Parliament Buildings. Members could examine the publications and decide whether money was being wasted.

Mr. Pickersgill did not reply to Mr. Thatcher's offer.

Battle Stations! Atom Bomb! Full Ahead!

Small Boy in Command

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—The U.S. destroyer O'Bannon Monday was temporarily under the command of a small Australian boy.

The tyke was one of 10,000 visitors who went aboard the American warship in the harbor.

As soon as he boarded the ship, he scampered to the bridge. This is what happened then:

1. He sounded the general alarm, calling the crew to battle stations.

2. He set off the chemical alarm used during atomic attacks.

3. He ordered the ship "full speed ahead" over the vessel's engine-room telegraph and sounded a blast on the whistle.

Lieut. I. J. Bean raced to the bridge as the lad was "sending" a message over the O'Bannon's signal lamp to the U.S. aircraft carrier moored astern.

Bean relieved him of his command and he was taken ashore under escort.

Garden Notes

Sow Cauliflower For Next Year

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

This week is a pretty important seed-sowing time in the vegetable garden. A good strain of late cauliflower should be sown now, to come to maturity during the late spring and early summer next year. These are best sown in an open, sunny position, spacing the seed very thinly and about half an inch deep.

One of the hazards of this sowing is birds. They seem to be ravenous for spring salads, and they go for the tiny cauliflower seedlings just as they break the surface. Whole sowings can be lost in this way, and as the birds work very early in the morning, you never know what happened. Outside of protecting the bed with netting, the only protection I know of is to string lengths of black thread around and above the seed rows. Once a bird has bumped into an invisible black thread a few times, it will give that part of the garden a clear berth there after.

PLANT IN JULY

Sturdy young plants from this sowing will be available in July for planting out on well-prepared but firm ground, where they will stand through the fall and winter.

Late savoys and coleworts can be sown now, too, to make plants for setting out in July. Colewort, called "collards" south of the Mason-Dixon line, is a type of cabbage which doesn't make a head, and the leaves are picked off and cooked like spinach. Just as leaf lettuce is more nutritious than head lettuce, so the mild-flavored leaves of colewort contain more vitamins and minerals than the blanched inside portions of ordinary cabbage.

The colewort sown now will come to use table between October and Christmas, and the late savoys will be ready soon after the New Year.

PEAS FOR JULY

Another important sowing for this week is that of garden peas for picking in late July and early August. Onward is a good variety for this sowing, and it is a good idea to follow up with small sowings every second week, switching to Dwarf Telephone about the middle of June. In this way, you can have fresh-picked green peas until October.

This is about the best time of the year to take cuttings from your hydrangea bushes. Soft, unflowered portions will root quite readily if inserted in a sandy bed, with a little damp peat moss mixed in, and covered with jam jars. This is one of the few cuttings that shouldn't be trimmed off just below a joint—the roots form much better when the cut is made halfway between joints. Use strong, stocky growth, avoiding thin, drawn shoots which have become spindly through overcrowding.

The wise gardener is always looking at least a year ahead, so it is a good idea to look over the beds of spring flowers, bulbs, wallflowers, forget-me-nots and the like, with a rather critical eye, planning what changes should be made in the 1955 display. It is best to get your ideas down on paper—they are so easy to forget in the pressure of spring work.

Sea Disposal Of Garbage Will Continue

No change from the present method of dumping garbage at sea is proposed by the city before the end of the year, but a decision on the final future of garbage disposal will be made during the next eight months.

This became apparent during council consideration of the budget yesterday when estimates were approved covering costs of the present garbage disposal method to the end of 1954.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, public works committee chairman, stated, however, that "there is no doubt in my mind that the garbage question will be settled one way or the other this year."

The works committee earlier this year proposed to cease towing garbage to sea to dump and cover it on brickyard property owned by Evans, Coleman & Johnson Brothers, east of Douglas Street between Tolmie and Finlayson.

Council tabled the plan when it met with strenuous objections from residents of Topaz Heights living immediately to the east of the proposed dump.

Council yesterday voted $136,360 for general collection of garbage, $15,465 for operation of the garbage wharf, $8,200 for wharf maintenance and $22,500 for towing to sea.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow suggested it might be cheaper for the city to contract with a private firm for garbage collection. Alderman Dowell said such a step was possible.

"There is no question that labor costs are absolutely too high for the value received," he said.

Aldermen questioned a new 120-year plan for replacement of the city water distribution system.

During the coming year first under the new plan, a sum of $118,000 is included in the budget for "depreciation replacements." Last year's council spent $69,530 under the same heading.

The new replacement scheme would require spending of $118,000 for 20 years when the annual expenditure would drop considerably for the remainder of the life of the plan.

The mayor suggested the plan be delayed for a year.

City Manager Cecil Wyatt said the plan would cost more the longer it is delayed. He explained the replacement scheme is necessary because the city has never before deducted anything from waterworks profits for replacement of mains. Many of the mains, he said, have now reached the end of their life and must be replaced. The replacement plan will smooth out replacement costs over a 120-year period.

SHOULD SHARE COST

Alderman Edgelow said water consumers should share half the cost of replacement of the distribution system with taxpayers and suggested that water rates be increased with this in mind.

Ald. Brent Murdoch asked if it wouldn't be more advisable to sell the Esquimalt distribution system to Esquimalt or have the Greater Victoria Water Board take over the Greater Victoria distribution system.

Comptroller-Treasurer Dennis Young said taxpayers would lose out through sale of the system and stated that profits from water distribution amount to some $80,000 this year.

Ald. Robert Macmillan stated that it is "folly" to delay institution of the replacement scheme.

Aldermen voted a grant of $4,900 to the Capital City Regional Planning Board. All Greater Victoria municipalities and the provincial government have contributed to the board with the exception of Central Saanich.

Sound Waves in Brain Stop Pain, Help Insane

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Silent sound waves beamed into the human brain can sometimes halt unbearable cancer pain and combat some insanities, says Dr. P. A. Lindstrom of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Lindstrom, neurosurgeon formerly married to actress Ingrid Bergman, said the method is painless and works as well as the surgeon's knife without causing troublesome effects.

Dr. Lindstrom, chief of neurosurgery at the Veterans' Hospital and assistant professor at the University of Pittsburgh medical school, described the sound wave technique to the American Psychiatric Association Monday.

He uses ultrasonics, beams of sound of such high frequency they are inaudible to the human ear.

The wave is beamed through small holes made in each side of the forehead.

Results on 27 humans, mostly in great pain from hopeless cancer, were as good as those obtained with lobotomies, the surgical cutting of nerves or removal of part of the brain, lobes, he said. Lobotomies are widely used to control pain or treat some insanities.

But lobotomies often cause undesirable changes in personality, incontinence, convulsions, interference with judgment, headaches or other troubles. There were no such complications from the sound waves, he said.

The sound waves destroy or alter some brain cells and fibres, but cause much less damage than is done by knife.

Under local anaesthetic, flaps of scalp are lifted up. Then holes an inch to 1½ inches in diameter are cut in the skull. There is no pain from this. The sound wave device is then placed against the membrane covering the brain.

Naples Hails Blood

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Cries of joy, ringing of bells and fireworks swept through this Italian port Sunday night at the announcement from Naples Cathedral that the blood of its patron, St. Januarius, had finally softened and melted a day late.

The blood of the martyred saint should have liquefied Saturday, as it usually has done on the first Saturday of May, for the last four centuries. When it has failed to melt Naples has had bad luck.

Even a delay is considered an ill omen. A delay of several hours in 1940 was followed by Mussolini's declaration of war.

Saturday, after hours of prayers, the blood was still solid. Marcello Cardinal Mimmi, Archbishop of Naples, urged the people to pray again Sunday.

Devout Neapolitans assembled at the cathedral Sunday, attended Mass and again prayed. Some of the more excitable began to scream.

St. Januarius is buried in Naples Cathedral. His blood is kept in a side chapel.

Only three times in the past has it failed to melt. The last time was in 1944 when Vesuvius erupted. In 1884 an epidemic of cholera followed, and in 1527 bubonic plague wiped out about half of Naples' population.

Talk Planned For Teachers

Teachers of Grades 1, 2 and 3 in School District 63 will hear Miss Alice Heenan, representative of the publishing firm which provides B.C.'s elementary readers, discuss teaching problems at a reading clinic in Royal Oak High School today.

Yesterday 140 teachers of Greater Victoria grades had their lesson in new methods of reading instruction, with a special class of 20 Grade 2 youngsters at Oak Bay Junior High School.

For Victoria school children whose teachers were in session it was a half-holiday. But in the Saanich area today, where Normal School students are taking classes, the children stay at school.

Miss Heenan will demonstrate her reading-teaching techniques throughout B.C.

A SHERLOCK HOLMES STORY

The Sign of Four

(Published by arrangement with the estate of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. World rights reserved. Illustrations copyrighted, 1934, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

CHAPTER XI

THE STRANGE STORY OF JONATHAN SMALL

A very patient man was that Inspector in the cab, for it was a weary time before I joined him. His face clouded when I showed him the empty box.

"There goes the reward!" said he gloomily. "Where there is no money there is no pay. That night's work might have been worth a tenner each to Sam Brown and me if the treasure had been there."

"Mr. Thaddeus Sholto is a rich man," I said; "he will see that you are rewarded, treasure or no."

The Inspector shook his head despondently, however. "It's a bad job," he repeated; "and so Mr. Athelney Jones will think."

His forecast proved to be correct, for the Scotland Yardsman looked blank enough when I got to Baker Street and showed him the empty box. They had only just arrived, Holmes, the prisoner, and Jones, for they had changed their plans so far as to report themselves at a station upon the way. My old companion lounged in his armchair with his usual listless expression, while Small sat stolidly opposite him with his wooden leg cocked over his sound one. As I exhibited the empty box he leaned back in his chair and laughed aloud.

"This is your doing, Small!" exclaimed Jones angrily.

"Yes, I have put it away where you shall never lay hand upon it," he cried exultantly. "It is my treasure, and if I can't have the loot I'll take darned good care that no one else does. I tell you that no living man has any right to it, unless it is three men who are in the Andaman convict barracks and myself. I know now that I cannot have the use of it, and I know that they cannot. I have acted all through for them as much as for myself. It's been the sign of the four with us always. Well, I know that they would have had me do just what I have done, and throw the treasure into the Thames rather than let it go to kith or kin of Sholto or Morstan. It was not to make them rich that we did for Achmet. You'll find the treasure where the key is and where little Tonga is. When I saw that your launch must catch us, I put the loot away in a safe place. There are no rupees for you this journey."

"You are deceiving us, Small," said Jones sternly; "if you had wished to throw the treasure into the Thames, it would have been easier for you to have thrown box and all."

"Easier for me to throw and easier for you to recover," he answered with a shrewd look. "The man that was clever enough to hunt me down is clever enough to pick an iron box from the bottom of the river. Now that they are scattered over five miles or so, it may be a harder job."

"This is a very serious matter, Small," said the Scotland Yardsman. "If you had helped justice, instead of thwarting it in this way, you would have had a better chance at your trial."

"Justice!" snarled the ex-convict. "A pretty justice! Whose loot is this, if it is not ours? Where is the justice that I should give it up to those who have never earned it? Look how I have earned it! Twenty long years in that fever-ridden swamp, all day at work under the mangrove-trees, all night chained up in the filthy convict huts, bitten by mosquitoes, racked with ague, bullied by every cursed native policeman who loved to take it out of a white man. That was how I earned the Agra treasure, and you talk to me of justice be cause I cannot bear to feel that I have paid this price only that another may enjoy it!"

Small had dropped his mask of stoicism, and all this came out in a wild whirl of words, while his eyes blazed and the handcuffs clanked together with the impassioned movement of his hands. I could understand, as I saw the fury and the passion of the man, that it was no groundless or unnatural terror which had seized the late Major Sholto when he first learned that the injured convict was upon his track.

"You forget that we know nothing of all this," said Holmes quietly. "We have not heard your story, and we cannot tell how fair justice may originally have been on your side."

"Well, sir, you have been very fair-spoken to me, though I can see that I have you to thank that I have these bracelets upon my wrists. If you want to hear my story, I have no wish to hold it back. What I say to you is God's truth, every word of it.

"I am a Worcestershire man, myself, born near Pershore. I was never much of a credit to the family. They were all steady, chapel-going folk, small farmers, well known and respected over the countryside, while I was always a bit of a rover. When I was about 18 I got into a mess over a girl and could only get out of it again by taking the Queen's shilling and joining the Third Buffs, just starting for India.

"I wasn't destined to do much soldiering, however, I had just got past the goose-step and learned to handle my musket, when I was fool enough to go swimming in the Ganges. Luckily for me, my company sergeant, John Holder, was in the water and he was one of the finest swimmers I've known. A crocodile took me just as I was halfway across and nipped off my right leg just above the knee. What with the shock and the loss of blood, I fainted, and should have drowned if Holder had not grabbed me and paddled for the bank. I was five months in hospital and, when at last I was able to limp out of it with this timber leg strapped to my stump, I found myself invalided out of the Army and unfitted for any active occupation.

"I was really pretty down on my luck, for I was a cripple, not yet in my twentieth year. However, my misfortune soon proved to be a blessing in disguise. A man named Abel White, who had come out there as an indigo planter, wanted an overseer to look after his coolies. He happened to be a friend of our colonel's, who had taken an interest in me since the accident. To make a long story short, the colonel recommended me strongly for the post and, as the work was mostly to be done on horseback, my leg was no great obstacle. The pay was fair, I had comfortable quarters, and altogether I was content to spend the remainder of my life at indigo planting. Abel White was a kind man, and he would often drop into my little shanty and smoke a pipe with me.

U.K. Paper Tells Of Better H-Bomb

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Express said Monday Britain has developed a new type of hydrogen bomb "far simpler and cheaper to produce" than the one devised by U.S. scientists.

It is described as "a sensational discovery of which the Russians and Americans are believed to know nothing." A Chapman Pincher Express science writer, says the British weapon "does not involve the use of large quantities of expensive heavy hydrogen as the ordinary H-bomb does."

Pincher, who does not cite the source of his information, says the new bomb was successfully tested at the Woomera weapons range in Australia October 26.

Asian Prime Ministers Urge Red China's Admission to UN

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters) — The prime ministers of India, Pakistan, Indonesia, Burma and Ceylon call for the admission of Communist China to the United Nations and immediate negotiations for a cease-fire in Indo-China among the "parties directly concerned" in the war.

Their appeal was issued in a statement Sunday after they ended their "mutual problems" conference here for two days in an effort to reach agreement on proposals to settle the Indo-China war and Communism in Asia.

One of the main points of controversy during the two-day extension was reported to be Indian Prime Minister Nehru's plea for the United States and other big powers to stay out of the Indo-China war between French Union forces and Communist-led Vietminh rebels.

DIRECT TALKS

Sunday's declaration called for direct negotiations by France, the three associated states of Indo-China—Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia—the Vietminh rebels and parties invited by agreement. It also called [illegible] current Geneva Far East conference that she is irrevocably committed to independence for Indo-China.

The statement was issued after the prime ministers — Nehru, Mohammed Ali of Pakistan, Ali Sastroamidjojo of Indonesia, U Nu of Burma and Sir John Kotelawala of Ceylon — continued their discussions Saturday and Sunday at Kandy, ancient capital of Ceylon's kings, and on the train journey there.

It urged no more tests of "weapons of mass destruction" until agreement is reached by the United Nations disarmament commission on the elimination and prohibition of such weapons.

Admission of Communist China to the United Nations the statement said, would "help to promote stability in Asia and ease world tension . . ."

Turkey's Democrats Win

ISTANBUL (AP) — Official returns Monday from Turkey's general" election promised Premier Adnan Menderes' Democrat party a smashing victory, possibly 95 per cent of the 541 seats in the National Assembly.

Returns from Sunday's voting showed the Democrats ahead in 55 of the 58 reporting provinces and taking nearly two-thirds of the popular vote.

The Democrats were surpassing even their 1950 landslide victory, which ended 25 years of one-party rule by the Republican party founded by the late Kemal Ataturk, Turkey's national hero.

And the returns indicated that the Democrats will seat 508 deputies, the Republicans no more than 28, and the small Nation party probably five.

San Quentin's Death Row Author Refused Clemency by Governor

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Goodwin J. Knight Monday refused executive clemency for convict Arthur Caryl Chessman, condemned San Quentin prisoner whose recently-published autobiography is being hailed by critics as the "most astounding" book of the year.

California's governor said he had reviewed the file on Chessman's case and "found no grounds for a reprieve or commutation of sentence" despite the man's prison-born success as a writer.

The 32-year-old convict is slated to die in San Quentin's lethal gas chamber on May 14 for a series of Southern California lovers' lane kidnappings, robberies and attempted rape. He is the first man sentenced to die under the state's "Little Lindbergh Law" for kidnapping with bodily harm.

NO EMOTION

In San Quentin prison authorities said Chessman took the news of the governor's action "without emotion." "He was typing in his cell when he received the news," the warden's office said. "He took it very calmly and made no comment. He just went on typing."

If he dies he will leave a testament to the world. "Cell 2455, Death Row," the story of his life. It is a astonishing document, remarkably phrased. It is absorbing and disturbing if raises questions which society has never quite answered.

Chessman, who says he is a direct descendant of John Greenleaf Whittier, "that gentle poet," has emerged from a career of crime, a youth loaded with violence, with an excellent education, a gift for words, a logical mind. His brilliance has been recognized, even by police and prison officials who hate him and his kind. Some of them call him a brilliant psychopath, and he plays with the term sardonically.

Chessman, like many another criminal, had fine parents. He dedicates his book to the memory of "the gentle Hallie, my mother, who dreamed a deathless dream." The dream was that her boy, her only child, would achieve distinction. He did but never in the way she imagined. Caryl was almost a prodigy as a little boy. He took to music instinctively, played the piano beautifully.

Then a bout with encephalitis left him tone deaf and he turned to other things. A series of illnesses made him a delicate adolescent. He was bullied, afraid. Anything, he decided, was better than fear — anything. He developed into a strong, tough young man. Petty crime was to prove his mettle. Reform schools gave him a smoldering hatred that turned into crime. Often he was too smart for the police, but eventually, as they always do, they caught up with him.

NOT KILLER

Apparently Chessman never killed anyone. He was sentenced to death for violating California's Little Lindbergh Law, which makes execution possible for kidnapping with intent to rob. He has always insisted that he was innocent of these particular charges.

Chessman denied that he was the "Red Light" bandit, so-called because he had a red spotlight in his car, who kidnapped his victims, molested women and robbed men. He was under parole at the time, released from a long term at Folsom Prison for robbery. He was committing other crimes, and he says the cops beat a confession out of him.

Lacking the money for the best lawyers, he defended himself at his trial in Los Angeles. When he reached the death house he studied law. He mastered it well enough to file his own appeals to the state appellate courts and eventually to the United States Supreme Court. He raised questions which kept his case on appeal for six years—but he lost.

B.C. Products Fair

EVERYBODY gains in British Columbia when a B.C. product is purchased with money that will then stay at home. That is the theme of the B.C. Products Fair which opened yesterday in Victoria under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. It is a sound theme. A domestic market is needed by British Columbia manufacturers to cushion the fluctuations in the export field and so to bring about a stable level of production. What can be said of one product holds true for others. All goods manufactured in the province for sale at home or abroad have provided needed jobs for British Columbians.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce fostered the growth of the B.C. Products Fair from a cold start some eight years ago. Each year since the exhibition has been improved and enlarged. This year the ice arena and the curling rink together will scarcely hold the number of exhibits that are offering, while public interest in the event has been attracted by bright and enterprising means. For the enthusiasm with which they have fostered this straightforward and progressive business step, and the ingenuity of the methods taken to attract public attention to the exhibition, members of the Junior Chamber are entitled to praise. It it a fine example of community spirit.

Modern manufacturing is breaking into fresh ground almost daily. New forms and materials, new metals and plastics, and the whole range of new tools and machinery have made possible a wealth of choice in the finished products. It has been difficult for even those in the trade to keep abreast of this swift advance into new fields. It has been even more difficult for the public, which may come into contact with only isolated parts of the process in the daily round. For that reason the B.C. Products Fair is a practical enterprise and a most timely one. It has in the past been found educative, and that most certainly can be said of the present venture.

British Columbia's domestic trade is one thing that remains under home control. It will not be the fault of the world, but of ourselves if we slip current opportunity to turn to useful account the great variety of raw materials of which British Columbia is possessed. Nor is there any need for territorial sectionalism in that. A lively domestic market spurs imports and exports as well.

"I hope the Russians are as confused as I am."

Problem of Drinking Drivers

IN most parts of Canada the authorities and the newspapers are expressing concern over the continued increase in the number of cases of impaired driving brought before the courts. When the Criminal Code was amended three years ago to make impaired driving an offense it was fondly believed that this added risk of prosecution would make motorists be more careful either in the use of liquor or by refaining from driving after they had been drinking. Before that the element of drinking was rarely included in a charge against a driver unless the prosecution was satisfied it could prove the accused was reeling drunk. Now it is sufficient to establish only that his faculties were impaired. Despite the heavily increased danger of punishment and social disgrace, however, motorists continue to mix liquor and driving, apparently unmoved by the mounting statistics covering that type of offense.

The situation seems to be the same everywhere. In other parts of the country there is much discussion as to whether or not the courts are imposing severe enough fines. Those taking part in this debate are talking in terms of current fines of $50, or $100 at most. Yet in Victoria for the past two years or more the standard fine for impaired driving has been $250, probably the highest in the Dominion, but the number of cases goes on increasing. So it looks as if the deterrent effect of heavy fines is less than is generally believed. With very few exceptions, those convicted seem able to scrape up the money to pay a fine of $250; and second convictions are by no means rare.

If fines have little effect the answer may lie in greater severity in the matter of driving privileges. In Victoria it is already routine procedure for the court to take steps to obtain the suspension of licenses of those convicted of impaired driving, with some relenting in the case of those who can prove that driving is part of their jobs. Hard though it might be on some, perhaps it would be advisable in the interest of public safety for the authorities to refuse to accept that plea, and also to increase the period of suspension. If it became generally known that impaired driving would lead to automatic suspension of license for two, three or maybe even five years, drinking drivers might be persuaded to be more circumspect in their habits.

To Be or Not To Be

A THEATRICAL-SHAKING note from Hollywood informs the world that Harry Lillis Crosby, known to moviegoers and Christmas Carol listeners alike as "Bing," is about to become a serious thespian. He might even play Hamlet, it is whispered, possibly because when at school he once played Julius Caesar. Not surprisingly perhaps he improved on Shakespeare on this occasion by coming to life after being stabbed when he saw the weighted curtain about to drop on his prone body.

Mr. Crosby has reached the 50 mark, and seemingly his popularity as a "groaner"—although this is a misleading term for if no Caruso he at least sings melodiously—is in danger of eclipse because of rival crooners half his age. The sales of his recordings are not as of yore, moaning and crying techniques having outmoded even the last trace of his hub-hub-hub-hub specialty. Hence his decision to adopt a serious mein in future.

Acting is not necessarily synonymous with Hollywood, since in that synthetic emporium sheer notoriety is warrant for being hailed as a movie "star," but in the lighter type of screen productions Bing Crosby has shone with some success. If his portrayals do not plumb the depths of dramatic art he has a pleasing naturalness about his screen acting that has stood him in good stead. What recommendation this is for an attempt at playing Hamlet of course remains to be seen.

Ironically enough should he essay the role of the inhibited Danish prince he will still be a screen juvenile. Hamlet is but a boy, younger in fact than the rival crooners who have in effect bid Crosby be gone. He is so young that no young actor has ever been mature enough to play him, which may permit Bing some grace to try. And with the proper toupee and correct lighting quite possibly he will at least look the part.

Interpreting the News

Tough Talk Not Backed Up

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

THE Eisenhower administration talked tough but, it appears now, never had a prepared plan to help the French if they faced disaster in Indo-China at the hands of the Communist-led Vietminh.

The tough talk didn't stop the Communists. State Secretary Dulles didn't come up with a plan until the French did face disaster. So far his plan hasn't worked.

When the Korean peace was signed last summer, Dulles focused American and world attention on Indo-China where the French had been fighting the Vietminh seven years.

On September 2 he warned the Communist Chinese not to send their troops into Indo-China. Such aggression, he said, "could not occur without grave consequences which might not be confined to Indo-China."

If this was intended to warn the Chinese they might be bombed in China if they sent an army into Indo-China, it overlooked a reality: It wasn't necessary for the Chinese to send in an army.

The native Indo-Chinese rebels were willing to fight and die. The Chinese sent in supplies and specialists. Dulles hadn't said what the United States would do in a case like that.

In another major policy speech January 12 Dulles said aggression would be met with instant and massive retaliation. Dulles later watered it down—saying he had meant to emphasize not so much the word "instant" as "capacity" to retaliate instantly.

Three days later Dulles explained Eisenhower could order instant retaliation if he though an attack anywhere was a preliminary to attack on the United States. Chinese aggression in Indo-China could hardly be considered that.

Dulles later said a Communist victory in Indo-China would lead to domination of all Southeast Asia. "That possibility," he said, "should not be passively accepted but should be met by united action."

This at last seemed to be the plan, although one thought up at the last moment, for he dashed off to see whether France and Britain would form a Pacific alliance like the one they had with the United States in Europe.

But Britain and France insisted on waiting to see what happened at Geneva conference.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings"

By TOM TAYLOR

INTRIGUED by my passing remark the other day that Churchill was born in a cloakroom, a St. Charles Street reader writes:

"You aren't by any chance mixing him up with Wilde's 'Importance of Being Ernest,' are you? To the best of my knowledge Winston was born at Blenheim and I think I am right. Could you elucidate?"

Certainly.

Winston first saw the light of day in the Palace of Blenheim all right, that vast pile erected by a grateful nation to his famed ancestor and of which he was later to write: "According to a deep law of nature the architect's estimate of £100,000 fell far short of the realized expenditure."

But he chose to arrive in a cloakroom nevertheless.

* * *

Virginia Cowles relates the story in her recently published life of Churchill. It seems to be authentic. She is apparently an intimate of the Churchill family and she says she was told the circumstances by Churchill's cousin, whose mother was the sister of Lady Randolph Churchill.

Lady Randolph was the gay young lady who in Winston's early years shone to him, he says, like a "beautiful but distant star." She loved dancing, and although seven months with child insisted against her doctors' advice in attending the St. Andrew's Ball held at Blenheim on the night of November 30, 1874. In the middle of the evening she was rushed from the ballroom to the cloakroom where, amid a setting of silk hats, velvet capes and feather boas, she gave birth to Winston.

Apparently this peculiar advent has caused some embarrassment at Blenheim. Parts of the palace are now open to the public and of course every visitor wants to see the room where Churchill was born. And it's a small plain room, ill becoming the birthplace of the great Sir Winston.

* * *

True enough. It was once the bedroom of the first Duke's chaplain, but it is more suitable as a cloakroom than a boudoir, and although it has been fitted with modest bed and other furnishings the tourists go away disappointed.

Indeed the present Duke of Marlborough has criticized Winston's lack of showmanship in not arriving in one of the grand suites that could be shown off to advantage. He has surely made ample amend, however. In fact some see in his choice of Blenheim, since he was out of the direct ducal line, a typical disregard for propriety.

This cloakroom debut caused no little excitement among the Churchill family. One or two of them took a rather dim view of the whole affair, regarding the unusual circumstances as an omen that one day Winston would succeed to the Marlborough title.

Fortunately, as you know, he did not. If he had he would never have sat in the House of Commons nor occupied Number 10 Downing Street. Nor might Virginia Cowles be writing his life and disclosing a birth story that surprisingly seems to have escaped other writers on the Churchill theme.

Reports from Ottawa

PREMIER Joey Smallwood of Newfoundland once stormed that "if Valdmanis goes, I go too."

Thus did he answer critics who questioned his appointment of a Latvian refugee, Dr. Alfred Valdmanis, as director-general of economic development at $25,000 a year.

Now Valdmanis is in jail on charges brought by Smallwood that the economic wizard of yesterday collected kick-backs of "hundreds of thousands of dollars" from firms with which he was dealing on behalf of the provincial government.

Whether the courts find Valdmanis guilty or not, he will have "gone" so far as Newfoundland is concerned. And there is a possibility that he will take the however-reluctant premier along with him.

* * *

I am not suggesting that the five and one-half foot human dynamo who cajoled, wheedled and browbeat Newfoundland into union with Canada and then became the new province's first premier ever touched a cent which didn't belong to him. Smallwood, who gets $7,000 as premier and $2,500 as MLA isn't interested in money.

Smallwood's sole desire has been personal power—for its own sake, and to further his lifelong ambition to improve his people's living standards by the industrial development of the island's resources. To this mission he has bent tremendous energy, imagination and determination with remarkable singleness of purpose.

Five years ago Valdmanis was making a new start in Canada as a part-time college professor and federal employee at Ottawa. A brilliant man with pre-war experience as a Latvian cabinet minister, he saw an opportunity for himself in the development of the new province of Newfoundland.

After one member of the federal cabinet declined to go out on a limb in recommending Valdmanis to Smallwood, the Latvian approached Smallwood directly. The impulsive premier, impressed by Valdmanis' record, accepted him at face value and hired him at Valdmanis' own price.

In four years Smallwood and Valdmanis spent half of the $40,000,000 nest egg with which Newfoundland entered Confederation. They established a dozen new industries, with the government supplying the money and foreign companies, mainly German, supplying equipment, management, and technical personnel.

There are plants to manufacture cement, gypsum board, birch veneer, pressed wood, textiles, maching tools, batteries, handicrafts, leather, rubber goods, shoes and gloves, and a motion picture company.

Smallwood boasted he would "make or break" Newfoundland. He put about $12,000,000 into fisheries and roads. He couldn't touch $10,000,000 of the $40,000,000 which Newfoundland placed on deposit with the federal treasury in 1949, because it was sequestered to cover possible provincial deficits. So he sold a $10,000,000 bond issue to get more money for investment.

* * *

The cement, gypsum and pressed wood ventures are coming along fairly well. The birch plant appears to be a flop, the film company has all but folded, the textile mill isn't producing textiles, the machine plant isn't producing machine tools, and the battery, rubber, handicrafts and shoe factories haven't begun production.

With his money spent, Valdmanis in jail, the Conservatives demanding a royal commission investigation, and with even Liberal MPs from Newfoundland privately calling his program "madness" and "scandalous waste," Smallwood must feel events closing in upon him.

Politically he is nobody's fool, and can go another two years before calling an election. But there is something prophetic about "If Valdmanis goes, I go too."

Radar Traffic Cop

(From The Winnipeg Free Press)

IN VIEW of the Manitoba government's decision to arrange this summer a demonstration of radar for highway safety purposes, a recent safety release by the State of Wisconsin traffic safety branch will be of interest to all Manitoba motorists.

Listing "speed too fast for conditions" as the chief cause of fatal traffic accidents, the Wisconsin announcement said that radar devices would be installed to catch speeders. These devices would be in operation day and night throughout the state for a year.

The safety branch went on:

"This should provide a double deterrent to lovers of high speed driving. The prevention of accidents should be the first impelling reason for driving at reduced speed but the prospect of being caught and fined will be an added persuader.

"Motorists who may resent having their wings clipped are urged to wait and see if the revived emphasis on speed control results in a saving of lives. If so, everyone should favor it."

A bather had been rescued by a local fisherman. After artificial respiration had been used for some time he showed signs of life. A bystander then came forward with a glass of brandy. Eyeing this eagerly, the bather muttered: "Roll me over and get some more water out first."

The destructive power of the latest H-bomb exceeded the expectations even of the scientists who made it, so they say. But then that's also the excuse used by the host who serves 5-to-1 martinis.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

A FAMOUS Canadian surgeon was attending a symphony concert. In his hip pocket he had his wallet with over $100 in it which he had intended to bank that day but had not found time.

When the symphony was over, he and his wife wended their way out of the concert hall in the dense packed throng that slowly edges its way to the exits and the hat check room.

As they shuffled along, amid the happy, relaxed and loud murmuring crowd, the surgeon felt something touching him from behind. It was, he thought to himself, some elderly person, someone with one of the forms of palsy, for the touch continued; happened more than once.

If it had been you or I, no matter how bemused and relaxed and out of this world we might have been as the consequence of the beautiful music we had been hearing, we would have leaped instantly to the conclusion that somebody was after our precious wallet.

* * *

But eminent surgeons and doctors are half out of this world anyway. They are men with other things to think about than the wickedness of this world. And our friend recalls that as he inched his way ahead in the packed crowd, he found himself speculating mildly as to which of the forms of palsy the person behind him was afflicted with. He wondered what age he might be, or might it be a woman? He was, of course, much too polite to turn and look.

The palsied one ceased pushing from behind. The surgeon followed the throng and took his place in the line at the check room. He had put his hat check in his wallet. He reached for it. It was gone.

I like several things about this story. First, I suppose, is the thought that pickpockets, too, may love fine music. Why not, indeed? But most I like the idea of the distinguished man, unique among us for his gifts of mind and hand, in all gentleness, being ever the healer, mistaking the touch of the criminal for the symptom of something to be healed.

Sky Atlas

THE most extensive map of the universe ever attempted is taking shape on Palomar Mountain in California.

In the National Geographic Society-Palomar Observatory sky survey, astronomers are systematically photographing the heavens out to a distance unmatched by any previous such survey. They have just completed their most successful winter's work, the survey reports. The first section of a history-making sky atlas is scheduled for publication in 1955.

Hundreds of large photographic plates, taken in pairs in red and blue-filtered light, are being fitted into this atlas. Section by section, the tremendous sweep of space visible from the latitude of Palomar is being recorded.

* * *

In the fifth year of the work, better photographic materials and long periods of good weather aided the survey's progress. Twice as many acceptable plates were made as in the previous best year. The survey is building toward an eventual total of 1,758 plates, or 879 pairs.

Palomar Observatory's "Big Schmidt," a 48-inch wide-angle telescope camera, is being used for the mapping project. Following the large-scale charts thus made, the giant 200-inch Hale telescope at Palomar then can be aimed at pin-point areas of the sky to study particular features with greater light-gathering power.

With this telescope team, sky survey astronomers probe fanastic distances. Stars, galaxies, clusters of giant nebulae, space dust and gas are being recorded out to an average distance of three sextillion miles (3,000,000,000,000,000,000,000).

Never before has such a comprehensive mapping project been attempted on the visible universe. When the sky survey atlas is finished it is expected to furnish astronomers with enough new material for a century of study.

* * *

In the distant depths of the sky, the project is continuously discovering new aggregations of stars and systems of stars, nebulae like the Milk Way.

Not only systems or clusters are being found, but clusters of clusters.

The sky survey is jointly sponsored by the National Geographic Society and the California Institute of Technology, which operates Palomar Observatory. Begun in 1949, it may not be completed until 1957 or later.

From the survey's discoveries and the overall sky atlas, already dubbed by astronomers their "portrait of creation," will come new opportunities for science to learn more about the scope of the universe, its possible beginnings, and the timeless unfolding of the birth and the death of stars.

Toronto Plans $50,000,000 Expressway

TOROSTO (CP)—A $50,000,000 lake shore expressway to carry 100,000 cars a day across the Toronto waterfront at 50 miles an hour may be built within the next three or four years to ease traffic headaches on probably the most heavily-traveled route in Canada.

[illegible] Gardiner, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto Council, said Monday the project is essential to the defense of the Toronto industrial area. For that reason, he thinks federal authorities should help to pay for it.

PLANS DRAWN

Preliminary plans were handed to the Metropolitan Toronto government Monday by the Toronto engineering firm of Margison, Babcock and Associates. Before they get the green light, they must be approved by four committees, the Metropolitan council itself and the Ontario government's highway department, Mr. Gardiner said. He approves the plans and hopes a start can be made on the expressway's western end by September 1.

The plans show the expressway six lanes wide for most of its 9½ miles, narrowing to four lanes near the eastern end.

The super highway would connect with the Queen Elizabeth Way on Toronto's western limits by two new bridges to span the Humber River.

From the Humber, six lanes of the super-highway would sweep eastward along the Lake Ontario shore through Sunnyside Amusement Park—which would be moved probably a mile east to the Canadian National Exhibition grounds—then skirt a mile east to the Canadian National Exhibition grounds on filled-in land for a mile. On a structure 25 feet above ground level, the artery would become a super-skyway for three miles through the central part of the city, but return to ground level again near its eastern end in the vicinity of Woodbine race track.

Two parking levels under part of the elevated section would provide space for perhaps 5,000 cars at a suggested fee of 35 cents a day.

The engineers who drew up the plans estimated that, financed over 20 years, the expressway would increase the area tax bills by less than a mill.

Acid-Tongued Scientist Dies at 67

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Harvard University Prof. Earnest A. Hooton, one of the world's outstanding anthropologists, died Monday night at his home. He was 67.

The controversial scientist, noted for his pungent comments on mankind, died of a heart attack about a half hour after he returned home from giving two lectures to his Harvard classes.

Hooton had been chairman of the department of anthropology at Harvard since the early 1930s. Under his guidance the department became one of the best in the world.

SALTY OBSERVATIONS

His salty observations on the human race—known as "Hootonisms" to other scientists—once led to a demand for a Massachusetts legislative probe of "this teaching of inhuman doctrines, contrary to the spirit of American institutions."

Hooton, whose best known writings were titled "Up From the Apes," "Apes, Men and Morons," and "Why Men Behave Like Apes and Vice Versa," held that man was on the road back to the jungle unless he changed his ways.

"Gadgets and machines are getting better and better," he said repeatedly, "while man is getting worse and worse."

Railmen Attack Report of Board, Possibility of Strike Vote Hinted

MONTREAL (CP)—Union spokesman Frank H. Hall Monday accused a three-man conciliation board of failing to make a proper report after studying a dispute between Canada's major railways and unions representing 145,000 non-operating workers. He hinted a strike vote may be called.

Mr. Hall, chairman of the union negotiating committee, said the members of the board had filed separate recommendations which did not constitute a proper report under law.

Labor Minister Gregg said when the recommendations were announced in Ottawa Thursday that the report was made up of the findings of Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, chairman of the board, and A. J. Wickens, the employees' representative, where these recommendations coincided.

DEMANDS FAVORED

Both Mr. Justice Kellock and Mr. Wickens were in favor of granting the workers some of their demands, but in differing degrees. M. M. Porter, the company nominee on the board, wanted all union requests turned down outright.

The dispute hinges around fringe benefits. Although no direct wage demands are included, railway spokesmen say granting the demands would cost them $60,000,000 annually.

UP TO THEM

Mr. Hall said a strike vote has been considered but the railways must first be advised before one is taken. He added, however, that the unions will resume negotiations if the federal government requests it.

In Ottawa, Labor Minister Gregg said he has not had a chance to study the union's protest over the conciliation board's report. He said he did not plan to appeal to the two parties to meet for talks.

"... I don't see that this is the time for the minister of labor to make noises," he said. "The next step is up to them."

Union representatives called a meeting here Thursday and Friday and during the week end to discuss the conciliation board reports.

U.S. Ready To Act in 1938

Ickes' Secret Diary Cites Gossip, Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The late Harold L. Ickes, in a "secret diary" published Monday, disclosed that President Roosevelt was prepared to use military force in 1938 to prevent Adolf Hitler from gaining a "foothold" in the Western Hemisphere.

Mr. Roosevelt, according to Ickes, was going to send the U.S. Navy to seize two British and French islands in the Caribbean that he "suspected" would be given to Hitler to appease the Nazi dictator's "appetite" for colonies.

Ickes, who was interior secretary for 13 years under Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, also told in his diary the intimate details of cabinet life under the two Democratic presidents.

SECOND IN SERIES

The current volume, 721 pages long, and second in a series, covers the period from November, 1935, when Mr. Roosevelt had been re-elected to his second term, until September, 1939, when the Second World War broke out in Europe. Other volumes are in preparation.

The diary ranges from pure gossip on Ickes' political friends and enemies to formulation of high level policies for the nation. Ickes, the self-styled "Old Curmudgeon," spares none of his enemies from his biting tongue.

The present volume, entitled "The Inside Struggle," details Mr. Roosevelt's unsuccessful fight to "pack" the supreme court in 1937, in an attempt to "purge" anti-new deal Democrats in the 1938 congressional elections, and the administration's manoeuvres to stave off war in Europe and Asia.

Ickes records the disgust of U.S. officials for the appeasement offered Hitler by British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and French Premier Edouard Daladier. On October 9, 1938, the year of "Munich," Ickes wrote:

EXPECTED MOVE

"I have it from the president that he expects some such move as the following in the near future: Germany will be wanting colonies and in the process of satisfying its appetite it is suspected that England will offer her Trinidad and prevail upon France to offer her Martinique.

"This would give Germany strong outposts on our eastern coast as well as the coasts of Central and South America. Then this country will be urged to agree to these transfers 'in the interest of world peace.'

"The president has made up his mind that if any such thing happens, the United States fleet will forthwith be sent to take both of these islands."

Ickes insisted that Mr. Roosevelt was a "parifist."

Merriman Ousts Bob Morrison In Island Golf, Senior Advances

John Merriman and Al Senior, both of the Gorge Vale Golf Club, continued in their "giant-killing" roles Sunday by ousting two of the favorites in the quarter-finals of the Vancouver Island Match Play Golf Tournament at Gorge Vale.

Merriman, who knocked B.C. [illegible] ing out of the running in championship play last week with a 4 and 3 victory, continued to shoot sparkling golf as he edged defending champion Bob Morrison of Uplands, one up.

Senior, another upstart who eliminated former Willingdon Cup golfer Jim Robertson in the second round, took the measure of Colwood professional Bill Court, one up.

HUGH MORRISON WINS

Hugh Morrison, also of Gorge Vale, joined his clubmates in the semi-finals by posting the easiest victory of the day, a 6 and 4 triumph over St Spaven of Colwood.

Only golfer not a member of Gorge Vale to move into the semis was Uplands' Eric Hibberson, a former champion, who edged Laurie Carroll, assistant professional of the Victoria Golf Club, one up.

Play moves to the Uplands Golf Club next Sunday with Hugh Morrison and Merriman meeting in the feature match and Hibberson clashing with Senior. The semi-finals will both be 36-hole affairs and the 36-hole final is scheduled at the Victoria Golf Club, May 16.

CLOSE ALL THE WAY

Some of the best golf of the [illegible] with Merriman's victory over Morrison the highlight. Neither golfer held more than a one-hole lead at any time and generally it took a birdie to win a hole.

Merriman fired birdies on the second, fourth and seventh while Morrison replied with a birdie on the sixth and at the turn by one hole. It was just as close on the second nine.

Morrison squared the match for the third time on the 10th and took his first, and only lead on the 11th. Merriman came back to win the next two holes and he clinched the victory by chipping to within three feet of the pin on the 18th to get down in par-four.

LED AT TURN

Senior held a one-hole lead at the turn and took a two-hole lead at the 14th. Court won the 15th but the final three holes were halved.

Another slam-bang finish was provided in the Carroll-Hibberson match. Hibberson, lying two just past the 18th green, putted to within inches of the cup. Carroll, needing a birdie to send the match into extra holes, had his long putt stop on the lip of the hole.

In consolation play, Pat Frith defeated W. Allen, 2 up; H. Doherty downed T. Armstrong, 3 and 1; Bill Martin edged J. Hall, 1 up, and S. Evans whipped C. J. Robertson, 4 and 3.

RANDY TURPIN

Mitri Flattens Turpin in First Round

ROME (AP)—Britain's Randy Turpin said he saw "a whole bunch of Mitris" Sunday night just before Italian middleweight Tiberio Mitri flattened Randy in 28 seconds to take Turpin's European crown.

Turpin's manager, George Middleton, said Monday that the first thing Randy will do when he returns to London in three or four days will be to see a medical specialist.

He quoted Turpin as saying just as the bell rang for the brief encounter:

"My eyes are queer. I can't see anything."

A moment later, after the knockout, Middleton said Turpin told him:

"I could see five or six Mitris all in a line. I was all right if I looked at the floor."

HEAD HIT CANVAS

Turpin, tense and nervous when the fight began, led with a left jab that missed. Then [illegible] movie actor, fired a left hook and then a right to the jaw. The 25-year-old Turpin fell hard, and his head hit the canvas with a thump.

The referee counted to eight and then stopped. He motioned to the 27-year-old Mitri to raise his hand in victory. Officials first ruled it was a knockout but later said it would go into the books as a technical knockout because the referee did not finish his count.

WOBBLES ACROSS RING

Turpin arose and wobbled across the ring. The referee, Juan Cervero Buro of Spain, helped him to his corner.

Turpin weighed 159½. Mitri 160.

The 27-year-old Italian, once held the European crown, but he gave it up to fight Jake La Motta for the world title in New York, July 12, 1950. La Motta won a 15-round decision.

Turpin reached the zenith of his career on July 10, 1951, when he outpointed Sugar Ray Robinson in 15 rounds in London to win the world middleweight title. He has been heading downhill since. He lost the title to Robinson in a 10th-round technical knockout on September 12, 1951, in New York.

Eugene Elkins Tops Bowlers

SEATTLE (AP)—Eugene (Red) Elkins, 28-year-old San Francisco bowler, won the 4th annual American Bowling Congress' master tournament title Saturday night with an 805-727 win over Willard Taylor, Charleston, W. Va.

Elkins trailed in the first three frames of his first game but then found the range and finished ahead with a 195. He added games of 191-207-212 for his winning series.

Elkins tumbled 6,053 pins in winning eight straight games as he worked undefeated toward the championship.

He was the only undefeated bowler in the master's.

Bomber Officials Blasted After Sports-Writer Ban

WINNIPEG (BUP)—The executive of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers football club were branded "dictators" Monday after they banned a sports writer from the stadium press box for writing a story on secret negotiations between the Bombers and the New York Giants for the services of star quarterback Charles Conerley.

Local sports writers and sports broadcasters were up in arms over the club's action, and several city aldermen also moved into the attack on the club executive.

The unprecedented rumpus arose when Blue Bombers president Ralph Misener banned Bob Moir of the Winnipeg Free Press from the press box of the stadium for the coming season, and told him not to attend press conferences, watch field training, obtain dressing-room comment or speak to coach Al Sherman.

STILL STANDS

"The ban still stands. This should teach him (Moir) a lesson," Misener said.

Alderman Slaw Rebchuk said today he would ask Winnipeg Enterprises Corporation, which built the $500,000 stadium last year with city council backing, to over-rule the football club's ban against Moir.

The Winnipeg Football Writers Association met Monday afternoon to discuss the club's action, taken by Misener and club vice-president James Russell after Moir wrote a speculative story that the Bombers were dickering for the services of Conerley, now under option with the New York Giants.

Maurice Smith, sports editor of the Free Press, said it was the first time in the history of football in Winnipeg that a sports writer has been "denied the right to report activities of the football club."

Smith, Jack Meek, sports editor of the Winnipeg Tribune, and Al Vickery, president of the Football Writers' Association, will form a committee of three detailed by the association to discuss the ban with Misener and Russell Thursday evening.

In a lead editorial Monday, the Winnipeg Tribune said: "The Winnipeg Blue Bombers executive has fumbled again in the field of public relations. It has often been dictatorial but this time it has exceeded past efforts. . .

"The little dictators of the Blue Bomber executive think they can pick and choose who covers the rugby games. . .

"Apparently, the Bomber executive doesn't respect freedom of the press. It prefers dictation."

Misener, however, claimed that all press and radio men were in the stadium press box "at the pleasure" of the Bombers and that seats in it could even be sold to season ticket holders if the Bombers so desired, under the terms of their five-year lease from Winnipeg Enterprises.

Second Season of Little League Baseball Given Impressive Send-Off

Second season of Little League baseball got under way at Little League Park before good crowd Sunday afternoon with two games and official opening ceremonies in which representatives from seven of eight sponsoring service clubs, Daily Colonist, Junior Chamber of Commerce and civic dignitaries took part. American League made its debut with Kinsmen defeating Lions, 14-5, and Gyros thumped North Kiwanis, 12-6, in opening National League contest. Cameraman Jim Ryan took this impressive picture showing all teams massed behind chief speakers in opening ceremonies. They are, left to right, Stan Mossey, Kinsmen; Wilf Edwards, Odd Fellows; Joe Chaplin, Lions; Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt; Denis Humphries, Gyros; Bud Simpson, member of Jaycees; Sth Halton, publisher of The Daily Colonist, which sponsors Little League with Junior Chamber of Commerce; Doug Fletcher, president of the Greater Victoria Sports Council; Mayor Claude Harrison; C. C. Howard, Elks; Jack Ledger, Jaycee president; Charlie Monk, Oak Bay Kiwanis; John Gough, Rotary, and Rev. William Hills.

Little League Opens; Kinsmen, Gyros Win

Starting its second Victoria season with two leagues instead of one and eight teams instead of four, Little League Baseball got off to a rousing start at Little League Park Sunday afternoon as upwards of 1,500 fans took in the opening doubleheader.

Kinsmen and Lions, who make up the new American League along with the Elks and Oak Bay Kiwanis, opened action with Kinsmen showing a powerful batting order which immediately stamped them as a team to watch, taking a 14-5 decision.

North Kiwanis, last season's champions, and Gyros, last season's runners-up, opened the National League season in the second game with Gyros taking a 12-6 victory in an error-filled six innings. Odd Fellows and Rotary round out the American League.

Play was stopped after four innings of the first game for official opening ceremonies. Reverend William Hills was the first speaker and praised the work of the Little League as fostering sportsmanship and providing fine recreation for Victoria youngsters.

NEW CLUBS IMPRESS

Best baseball of the afternoon was dished up by the two new clubs. They made only five errors between them and turned in some good plays. On the other hand, North Kiwanis and Gyros, playing their second season, could do little right and made a total of 16 errors.

Two five-run innings, the first and fifth, gave the Kinsmen their win in the first game. They hit the ball solidly throughout with seven of the nine players getting at least two hits. Winning pitcher Murray Halkett, who batted in the clean-up spot, had a double and two singles and two bases on balls for a perfect day at the plate. David Bowering connected for three singles in four trips and drove in three runs; Doug Gilmour also batted in three runs with three singles, while Dave Hill batted in four runs with two hits; Brian Usher scored four runs and made two hits in three trips to the plate and Jim Blackstock nicked up two hits.

STRUCK OUT EIGHT

Halkett was scored on in only two innings as he held Lions to seven hits. He struck out eight and threw six runners out at first base to personally account for 14 of the 18 putouts. Only Robbie Clark, with three hits in four trips, and Dave Humphries, with two hits and two bases on balls for a perfect start, gave Halkett any trouble.

In the second game North Kiwanis handed the game to Gyros by making 10 errors which accounted for 10 unearned runs. Five of the errors came in the third inning when Gyros won it by scoring eight runs, seven of them unearned. Losing pitcher was Jackie Gaston, who contributed three errors in the big third inning. Bill Smith went the six innings for Gyros.

New Prospects on Hand As Lions Open Training

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pair of new prospects were on hand Monday when British Columbia Lions, the new western Interprovincial Football Union entry, held their first spring training session.

Tailback Ernie Zalejski, one-time Notre Dame, Baltimore Colt and Washington Redskin speedster, was the main attraction.

Coach Annis Stukus said the six-foot, 190-pounder from South Bend, Ind., showed he is a "good passer and a nice runner" in a preliminary workout Sunday.

Also on hand to shake out a few kinks was Guido Scarton, a five-foot-nine, 185-pound halfback formerly with Wake Forest College.

Scarton, who played three years for Wake, is stationed in Seattle with the U.S. army. He finishes his service in July.

Stukus said Zalejski is "the tailback type and has played some quarterback."

He was with Notre Dame from 1946-49 and went to the pro Colts in 1950. When they folded he played part of the 1951 season with Washington before hurting an ankle.

"He sat out '52 and '53 and now is taking another crack at football," said Stukus.

Among the 30 or so players taking part in the spring training were:

Lonnie Winters, Washington, D.C., semi-pro; Texas ends Sam Ace Adams and Andy Hillhouse; tackle Chuck Quilter, with Edmonton Eskimos last year; quarter-back Gerry Tuttle, from Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen; Rayne Henderson, a 220-pound tackle from Dartmouth, N.S.; Harry Sonny Bray, a Hawaiian from Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah; and Bob Levenhagen, former Los Angeles Ram guard.

A Little Youthful Advice

Pitcher Jackie Gaston, left, and catcher Tommy Birkenhead, right, who comprised starting battery for North Kiwanis, 1953 Little League champions, in their own season opener Sunday, had a few words of advice for pitcher Bob Drilling, second from left, and Milt Martin, battery mates for Tyees' Victoria opener last night. Youthful wisdom may have helped as Tyees later turned back Tri-City Braves, 7-5, at Royal Athletic Park.

Sudbury Takes Allan Cup Opener But Penticton Vs Prove Handful

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Sudbury Wolves edged Penticton V's 2-1 here Monday night in the first game of their best-of-seven series for the Allan Cup and the Canadian senior amateur hockey championship.

PLAY RUGGED

The game was a bruising contest that saw 17 penalties handed out—11 to Sudbury and six to Penticton.

Lennie Speck sent Sudbury into the lead in the first period, a lead that lasted until the third period, when Nick Tomiuk added an insurance goal. Jim Fairburn scored Penticton's marker, also in the third.

Penticton flashed the goal light first, early in the first period when Jack McIntyre picked up a pass and went in to score. But the goal was disallowed on an offside call.

Speck's goal came on a pass from Jryal Lavelle on a screened shot from just inside the blue line. The puck bounced off a leg and gave V's goalie, Ivan McLelland, no chance.

At 13.13 of the first, Lavelle and Dick Warwick were thumbed for cross-checking and Pete Horeck slammed his stick against the boards in disapproval. Horeck was assessed a 10-minute misconduct which was served by Mauno Kauppi.

Tempers, which had been short throughout the first period, snapped just after the start of the second.

FIGHT

Sudbury's George Defelice boarded Bill Warwick, and as the whistle went for a penalty, gloves flew and players milled around with high sticks. Both drew minors.

Horeck drew his second 10-minute misconduct just past the 17-minute mark when he and V's Jack McDonald tangled. Montreal referees Mel Snowden and Syl Breen attempted to hold him off as he lashed out with his stick at the Penticton player. In addition to the misconduct, he drew a minor for high sticking.

Sudbury broke from the face-off in the third period, Nick Tomiuk converting Andy Milne's pass at 55 seconds to give Sudbury the insurance goal.

The teams move over to Vernon Wednesday night for the second game.

SUMMARY

First period: Sudbury, 1, Speck (Lavelle) 6.10. Penalties: Horeck 2.50, McDonald 2.30, Kraiser 9.28, Lavelle 13.13, D. Warwick 13.13, Kauppi 10-minute misconduct 13.13, Lavelle 17.58.

Second period—No scoring. Penalties: Defelice 2.25, B. Warwick 2.25, Defelice 7.47, Mascotto 7.47, D. Warwick 9.37, Mascotto 11.40, Horeck minor and 10-minute misconduct 17.13.

Third period: 2, Sudbury, Tomiuk (Milne) .55; 3, Penticton, Fairburn (G. Warwick, B. Warwick) 3.17. Penalties: Lavelle 4.28, Lavelle 8.11, Elson 17.03.

Salem Wins First Five; Chiefs Surprise Twice

Salem Senators, who received little support in pre-season balloting for possible winners, retained their lead atop the WIL standings Sunday by taking two extra-inning games from the homeless Calgary Stampeders to extend their unbeaten streak through five games.

Scoring two runs in the ninth inning to tie it up at 4-4, the Senators pushed across a run in the 11th to win the first game 5-4. They rallied in the seven-inning nightcap for one run in the seventh to tie at 3-3 then scored once in the eighth for a sweep.

Meanwhile, Victoria Tyees ran into unexpected trouble at Wenatchee as they lost a tough-luck decision in the first game, 6-5, and ran afoul of good pitching by Charlie Oubre in the second game to lose, 6-1.

CHEAP WIN

Trailing 4-1, the Tyees pushed across four runs in the sixth inning to take the lead but a base on balls, an infield single and a sacrifice bunt which moved the runners into scoring position was enough to give the Chiefs the tying and winning runs. Bill Prior went the distance for the losers. In the second game, the Chiefs scored all their runs in the fourth while Oubre baffled the Tyees in a neat three-hitter.

Vancouver and Yakima split a pair, Edmonton downed Tri-City twice on good pitching and Spokane and Lewiston exchanged decisions in other doubleheaders.

BY JIM TANG

Vancouver Capilanos certainly didn't do it on purpose but when they decided they didn't need Joe Joshua this season, they gave Victoria Tyees quite a boost.

The Tyees won their first game of the young WIL season last Friday, 2-1, and it was the colored outfielder's home run blast off manager Bill Brenner, the man who decided where he was to play this season, which provided the all-important first run.

LINE-DRIVE CLOUT

Last night at Royal Athletic Park, playing before about 1,800 fans in their home opener, the Tyees won their second victory in five games. And it was Joshua's second home run, a tremendous line-drive clout over the centre field fence with Steve Mesner on base, which provided the winning runs in a 7-5 triumph over the Tri-City Braves.

With the weatherman co-operating by coming up with milder temperatures, the turnout was on the disappointing side but the Tyees proved to the fans on hand that they have a ball club which can explode for runs at any time and which may make up for a pitching deficiency with solid hitting.

FINE DEFENSIVE PLAY

Last night, the Tyees were in trouble in every inning and pitcher Bob Drilling just managed to hold out as he gave up 14 hits and put three men on with bases on balls. But Drilling, backed by some fine defensive play when it counted the most, was tough enough in the clutch to leave 12 men stranded and gain his first win.

Meanwhile, the Tyees picked up their runs in sudden blasts, scoring six of them after two were out. In the second inning, they took a 2-1 lead when Dain Clay singled in a run after two were out and Milt Martin followed with a rousing double which just failed to clear the fence in right-centre field.

LAKE HOMERS

Tyees made it 4-2 in the third inning when Steve Mesner got the second of three singles after the first two batters had gone out and Eddie Lake followed with the first home run of the season at Athletic Park. Lake's blow was a long one which cleared the fence in left field just at the foul pole and brought protests from Tri-City manager Edo Vanni.

Then, after the Braves had gone ahead, 5-4, with a single run in the fourth and two in the fifth, the Tyees erupted for three runs and the decision in the eighth. Manager Don Pries flew out to open the inning but Tom Perez followed with a smashing triple to the left-field wall. Mesner poked a hit through the middle to tie it up and after Lake took a called third strike, Joshua got a good of a low pitch and whaled it right across Pembroke Street.

GOOD CATCHES

A little on the shaky side defensively in the early innings, the Tyees steadied down and backed up their explosive hitting with some fine play in the field. In the eighth inning, both Perez and Dain Clay made good catches in the outfield with two men on and Clay ended the game with a fine running catch of a slicing liner by pinch-hitter Elmer Hockaday with a runner on the bags.

Pre-game ceremonies were brief and accompanied by the usual trouble with the public address system. Club president Arthur Cox, speaking from the press box when the field microphone refused to work, introduced league president Bob Abel who gave an optimistic little talk. Master of ceremonies Ted Reynolds introduced the players and a battery from last season's Little League champions, pitcher Jackie Gaston and catcher Tom Birkenhead of North Kiwanis, proceeded to strike out Pries. The Victoria manager, incidentally, never quite recovered and was the only Tyee to go hitless.

Second game of the series will be played tonight. Hal Flinn, the gangling righthander who stopped Vancouver cold with a neat five-hitter Friday, will try for his second win for the Tyees. Vanni wasn't certain of his starting choice but opined it would likely be Don Robertson, a 14-9 performer with the Braves last season.

WIL Emergency Meeting Saturday

Directors of the Western International Baseball League will gather at Spokane on Saturday for a second emergency meeting over the Calgary Stampeders, currently a homeless club which will continue to play on the road until a final decision has been made on the Calgary franchise.

On Saturday, league president Robert B. Abel announced that the Calgary franchise had been taken over by the league because of the failure of Calgary officials to provide financially for the club.

The situation reached a peak earlier this season when no finances were made available for the club's spring training program but was apparently ended satisfactorily at an emergency meeting at Yakima on April 3, when Calgary owner Bus Lacey guaranteed sufficient money to keep the Stamps in operation.

REFUSED REQUEST

Some money, reportedly less than $5,000, was sent but it barely covered spring training operations and when manager Gene Lillard informed Abel of the situation, the league president asked Lacey for $10,000 immediately.

Lacey refused the request and Abel took the Stamps over for the WIL. Since then, the Stamps have been kept going by league clubs with Lillard deserving credit for a big assist in keeping his club together and continuing to play scheduled games. The manager, Abel reports, has even dug into his own pocket to make advances to some of his players.

As the matter now stands, Tacoma is the only city being considered as a replacement and there is only a fair chance that it will re-enter the WIL. Ben Cheney, the man most likely to take over at Tacoma, is holidaying in Mexico and it is understandably difficult to make such an important move without personal contact. Abel hopes to discuss the matter with Cheney by phone today.

PLAN TO PROTEST

Meanwhile, it has been reported from Calgary that Lacey and his associates plan to protest Abel's action in taking over the Calgary franchise and a chance still exists that the Alberta city will remain in the league despite Abel's Saturday assertion that Calgary was out for good. However, Calgary interests will have to show financial ability to take over before they will be readmitted.

Asked what would happen if the Stamps couldn't be placed in Tacoma and there was no change in the Calgary situation, Abel replied that the Stamps would remain as a road team for the first half of the schedule.

Monday night's score: Arrow Furniture 19, Navy 10.

Arrow Furniture jumped into a three-way tie for first place in the city Men's Senior Softball League standings Monday night by pounding out a wild 19-10 triumph over Navy at Central Park.

Arrows, who dropped an 8-7 decision to Cec Fletchers in opening games at Central Park Sunday afternoon, pounded out 16 hits and took advantage of wildness on the part of three Navy pitchers and three errors in marching to their one-sided win.

In the other game played at Central Park Sunday, Navy squeezed out a 7-6 triumph over the youthful Chinese Students in 11 innings.

Taking a 1-0 lead in the first inning, Arrows erupted for five runs against starter Ches Padgett in the second inning, with Ron Benn cracking a two-run homer to spark the rally.

RAN INTO TROUBLE

Norm Haskell took over on the mound for Padgett in the third inning and blanked the winners for two innings before running into trouble in the fifth when the Arrows picked up two more runs.

Gordy Knight tried to stop the Furnituremen's bats in the sixth but left in favor of Padgett after giving up five bases on balls. Arrows continued to garner a total of seven runs in the inning. He added another pair in the seventh.

Navy, held to one run through the first six innings by starter Bud Ross, broke out for seven runs in the seventh as they drove Ross to the showers. John Formston came in to put out the fire and held the Sailors scoreless in the eighth, and final inning.

WOBBLY START

In Sunday's games, the Sailors survived a wobbly start to eke out their win over the Students.

Students jumped into a three-run lead in the first inning but the Tars bounced back after the Students had taken a 3-2 lead by the seventh, scoring four times to move into a 6-5 lead.

Students tied it up in the eighth but lost out in the 11th when they committed two errors behind Wally Borgens after Jeff Worrall had walked.

DROPPED BEHIND

In the second half of the opening card, Arrows jumped into a 3-1 lead in the third inning, dropped behind 3-4 in the bottom half of the frame, then came back to deadlock the count at 4-4 with a single run in the top of the eighth.

Fletchers took a commanding 7-4 lead in the eighth when Chick Newman blasted a three-run homer. But Willie Benn blasted a three-run circuit clout for the Arrows in the ninth to force extra innings.

Tim Walker's single, an infield out and a wild pitch accounted for the winning run in the 10th frame.

Lennox Sparks Oak Bay To Triumph Over Incogs

Bernie Lennox, taking seven wickets for a total of 15 runs, sparked Oak Bay to a 21-run victory over Incogs in a low-scoring Victoria and District Cricket Association league match at Windsor Park Sunday.

With both clubs playing their first match of the season, the batsmen found the bowling difficult to solve, with only Tony Bristowe of the winners, who knocked up 32 runs in a well-played innings, able to reach double figures.

Batting first, Oak Bay lost five batters for ducks against the offerings of Jim Sherratt and Strath Goddard in running up their total of 60 runs, nine of which were contributed by Jack Sparks. Sherratt yielded only nine runs while capturing five wickets.

Jack Shanks, with eight not out, and Bob Sherratt with seven runs topped the Incogs' batters as Lennox took the first six wickets and Pat McIlvenny the next three while giving up a total of 12 runs.

Victory placed Oak Bay in a first-place tie with Alcos who opened the season Saturday by scoring a 60-run victory over defending champion Albions, one point in front of Five C's and Cowichan, who played to a tie at Duncan Saturday.

Tillicums Win Junior Title In B.C. Soccer Tourney

Tillicum Athletic Club, which started a team in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association eight years ago and has been in a B.C. final in each of those years, climaxed a successful season Sunday at Vancouver by winning the provincial Junior Division championship.

Playing against the crack St. Mary's team of Mission at Callister Park, Tillicums ground out a 3-1 victory to give Victoria its first provincial championship in two years. Two city teams lost out in B.C. finals Saturday and two more Victoria squads dropped division finals Sunday on the concluding day of the second annual Tournament of Champions.

CAME FROM BEHIND

Tillicums were forced to come from behind for their well earned victory. After John Penner had given Mission the lead at the 35-minute mark of the first half, Bob Abbott scored for Victoria to leave the teams tied at half-time, 1-1.

Lyle Hollingsworth and Jim McGee clinched it with second-half goals and Tillicums were presented with the E. W. Hamber Cup immediately following the final game of the afternoon.

In the Division I final, Eagles of Victoria found Vancouver Taurus too strong and dropped a 5-1 decision as Ron Homen scored three goals for the winners. Bob Showers scored for Victoria.

Vancouver Junior Futurity Falcons, who were later selected as the outstanding team, won the Division IV crown by blanking Victoria Eagles, 3-0, on goals by Trevor Swangard, A. Coleman and R. Young.

MAKE ALL-STAR TEAM

Three Victoria players were selected to the all-star juvenile team. Larry DeCosta of Division IV Eagles was named all-star goalie; Alex Ross of Tillicums was picked at right fullback, and Des Johnston, captain of Division II Mic Macs, was selected at centre-half.

Others named to the all-star team were George Young, Trevor Swangard, Ron Homen and Norman McLeod, all of Vancouver; Buddy Smith and Frank Verkerk of Powell River, and Bill Williams of Mission City.

McLeod, star of Division III Vancouver Steelworkers who scored an 8-0 victory over Victoria Eagles Saturday, was presented with the Sun Rose Bowl as the tourney's outstanding player.

In the Division V final, Powell River United laced Nanaimo South End, 10-0.

New Zealand Net Squad Trailing, 2-1, in Cup Play

LONDON (AP) — New Zealand defeated Hungary in doubles play at Budapest Monday but still trailed 2-1 in their first-round European zone Davis Cup tennis series after losing the opening two singles matches Sunday.

Jefferies Robson and Mark Otway displayed impressive form in beating Andras Adam-Stolpa and Antal Jancso, 6-1, 6-1, 2-6, 6-1. In Sunday's play, Adam-Stolpa trounced New Zealand's champion, John Barry, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6, and Joseph Asboth turned back Robson, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 6-0.

WILL MEET BELGIUM

Yugoslavia, using reserve players after clinching a victory with a doubles win Sunday, split the final two singles matches with Monaco Monday for a 4-1 triumph. Yugoslavia will meet Belgium's defending champions in the second round.

On Sunday, Brazil, Australia, Egypt and Spain completed their sweep into the second round of European play.

Brazil qualified to meet England by beating Switzerland, three matches to one. The final singles was abandoned because of rain with Brazil's Pedro Guimarais, a sub for Bob Falkenburg, leading Paul Blondel.

Armando Vieira won the clinching match for the South Americans over Erwin Balestra, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3. The matches were played at Montreux, Switzerland.

IRELAND OUSTED

Australia eliminated Ireland, 3-2, at Vienna, overcoming a 2-1 Irish lead. Franz Saiko of Australia defeated Guy Jackson 7-5, 6-1, 6-2, and his one-armed teammate, Hans Redl, downed Vivien Gotto 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

Egypt, which had clinched its win over Turkey Saturday, split the final two singles for a 4-1 victory at Cairo.

Spain, which had taken a 3-0 lead over Holland, also divided the final singles for a 4-1 decision at the Hague.

A windblown double by Forrest Jacobs, who had gone hitless in 23 times at bat, broke up a perfect game Monday for Chicago right-hander Sandy Consuegra against Philadelphia Athletics. He wound up with a 14-3 two-hitter.

The White Sox pitcher had retired 19 men in order before Jacobs got his hit with one out in the seventh. A pair of errors, a walk, two fly balls and a bunt by Jacobs gave the A's three runs in the ninth.

Vic Raschi pitched his first complete game since joining the Cardinals as St. Louis beat New York Giants 8-2 in the only other major league action.

Brooklyn and the Braves were frozen out in Milwaukee. Cleveland and the Senators were rained out in Washington. The other clubs weren't scheduled.

RASCHI STEADY

At St. Louis Monte Irvin greeted Raschi in the first inning with a two-run homer but the righthander never again was in trouble. The Cards used Ruben Gomez' wildness and a double by Tom Alston to score three runs in the first. Del Rice singled home another in the third. Ray Jablonski homered with Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst on base in the fourth and Wally Moon doubled home Rice in the fifth.

Musial, who hit a record five home runs in Sunday's doubleheader, appeared at bat only once officially Monday night and fouled out. He was walked four times, once on purpose.

Eleven games were played Sunday, but almost all the interest was centred on a doubleheader in St. Louis where outfielder Stan Musial became the first major leaguer in history to hit five home runs in one day.

The Cardinals could do no better than break even with the Giants, although Musial hit two over the fence in the second game. They lost that one, 9-7, but won the first one, 10-6, with Musial hitting three out of the park and adding a single for good measure.

QUITE A BOOST

Before Sunday's action, Musial had been struggling along in his usual spring slump with a .250 batting average. His outburst not only boosted his average to .400 but tied him with Hank Sauer for the major league homer run lead, each having eight. Musial also has seven doubles among his 24 hits for an outstanding slugging average.

Musial's clouting also tied a major league record for home runs hit in consecutive games. Ralph Kiner hit five in two games in 1949 and Don Mueller, Ty Cobb, Tony Lazzeri and Cap Anson each hit five in two days once in their careers. Six men — Earl Averill, Jimmy Foxx, Jim Tabor, Bill Nicholson, Gus Zernial and Kiner — each had hit four home runs in a doubleheader before Musial connected for the new record.

The six hits batted in nine St. Louis runs and gave Musial the league lead for runs batted in with 21.

There were plenty of home runs elsewhere, too. With a total of 21 for the five National League games played. Sauer hit three to boost his total to eight as his Chicago Cubs split a doubleheader with Pittsburgh Pirates. Only four were hit out of the park in six American League games.

Philadelphia Phils took over the National League lead from Cincinnati by edging the Redlegs, 4-2, in at Cincinnati. Brooklyn's defending Dodgers didn't get into action but they made news with the announcement that catcher Roy Campanella will undergo surgery for a broken finger. Their chances of repeating may well depend on how long the slugging catcher will be out of action.

YANKS TROUBLED

In the American League Sunday, the champion New York Yankees continued to have their troubles. They flashed their best hitting of the season in swamping Detroit Tigers, 12-4, in the first game of a twin bill but were one-hitted by Billy Hoeft in the second game and lost, 1-0. It was the third consecutive loss for hard-luck Harry Byrd, who had five errors committed behind him. The Yanks are now four games behind the leading White Sox, now a game ahead of the surprising Tigers.

DAKS slacks

Obvious at a glance, that look of aristocratic ease. That superb cloth, that faultless cut proclaim them Daks. Every year, more and more men in every walk of life become converted to these famous British made comfort-in-action trousers. Why not try a pair on? New materials this year—smart pinlines, airweaves and luxurious West of England doeskins. And, of course, exclusive worsteds and gaberdines. For your nearest dealer write to

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP)—Grain prices declined steadily in the last hour of trading reflecting sharp losses on United States markets.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included: Brazil 370,000 bushels; United Kingdom 80,000; Columbia 50,000; and Japan 60,000.

Lakehead prices for the top grades of class two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged from Friday.

CHICAGO (AP)—Heavy selling knocked old crop soybeans down 10 cents, the daily limit, at one time on the board of trade. Other grains were weak, particularly wheat.

Liquidation in May and July soybeans was pegged on the fact more than 1,000,000 bushels of cash soybeans were tendered on May contracts this morning.

Rails Carry Wall Street To New High

NEW YORK (UP)—Strength in railroad shares lifted the stock market higher.

Trading fell off from the active pace of the previous session.

The rail strength carried the rail average to a new high since last August 13. Industrials were at their best since October 22, 1929.

Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line and Goodyear were strong spots in the industrial department.

Motors dipped. Steels held about steady. Aircrafts were irregular with Bell at a new high and Bendix off more than a point. Douglas gained more than 2 points. Sharon steel and American Viscose lost on lower earnings.

Powell Ahead Again

VANCOUVER—Powell River traded at a new high of $32½ while MacMillan at 20¼ and Westminster Paper "A" at $16 were also strong.

Almost half the total sales were in Hamil Silver which added another ¾ cent at 18½ cents. Other mines active and higher were National Exploration, Beaverlodge, Estella, Dorreen and Rexspar.

Oil activity was confined to the lower priced issues and price changes were small.

Base Metals Weaken

TORONTO (CP)—Weak base metals led the stock market lower in light trading. Losses were small.

In industrials, utilities and steels strengthened in late trading.

Losses in western oils outnumbered gains more than two to one, but most losses were in pennies. Husky finished with a 10-cent gain.

Manitouwadge issues were steady. Bathhurst issues and uraniums were slightly weaker.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters)—Strength in British Funds was the feature of the London stock markets. Gains ranged up to one point.

Selective buying continued in gilt edged and among leaders Hudson's Bay was higher. Insurance issues were in demand. Dollar stocks reflected Friday's setback on Wall Street.

Rhodesian copper stocks eased on reports of sale to West German of $4,500,000 worth of Chilean copper.

Oils were firm with Iranians a feature on prospects of an early agreement on the Anglo-Iranian question.

Rubbers were firm. Teas showed little change.

Two Firms Take Advantage Of Conditions for Borrowing

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Taking advantage of present easier borrowing conditions are two leading Canadian companies, Bell Telephone and General Motors of Canada Acceptance Corporation.

Yesterday General Motors Acceptance Corporation issued $15,000,000 of 4 per cent debentures at 100 to yiled 4 per cent. The maturity date is June, 1964. They were heavily oversubscribed and initially traded at a premium of one quarter.

Today, Bell Telephone, Canada's leading privately-owned utility, is issuing $40,000,000 first mortgage 3¾ per cent debentures at 100 and accrued interest.

POPULAR ISSUE

The Bell debentures will be dated May 15, 1979, and are being offered by A. E. Ames & Co. As Bell Telephone is a favorite with institutional and other big buyers it is expected that this issue, like so many other high grade bonds issued in the last few months, will be favorably received.

The downward movement of the coupon rate on corporation, utilities and government bonds during the past few months has been remarkable.

Some recent offerings at discount prices were the Aluminum Ltd. 4½ per cents; the T. Eaton Acceptance 4⅜ per cents, the Simpson and Simpson-Sears 4¾ per cents and the Industrial Acceptance 3¾ per cents. All these bonds are now trading at premium prices between 102 and 103.

With the Canadian government about to redeem its third and fourth Victory Loans, there is obviously going to be a lot of money looking for an investment niche, and for some at least it looks as if the lower coupon rates and yields would continue to attract custom.

SHORT MEMORIES

How short some memories are! It is not many months ago when bondholders were cussing the Canadian government up hill and down dale for allowing the Victory Loans to slip to 94 and below. Now those same holders, with the loans all at par or better, are holding tight—and looking for further capital appreciation. They forget the pendulum can, and will, swing again.

LOOKS LIKE A DEAL

Directors of Malartic Goldfields have been given permission by the shareholders to invest funds in the shares of other mining companies.

Malartic Goldfields has a cash position of over $2,000,000. Its directors interlock with Inspiration Mining, and Beaucage Mines Ltd., both of which have important columbium-tantalum-uranium properties at Lake Nipissing, and which will require further financing before large scale operations can be tackled. The link is significant.

Malartic Goldfield's profit for the first three months of 1954 was $154,788 against $147,845 in the corresponding period of 1953.

Firm Bank Note

MONTREAL (CP)—Stock market prices showed a slight downward trend in moderately active trading.

Banks and beverages leaned forward. The remainder of the industrial market moved to lower ground.

Mines drifted off in a narrow range. Western oils were easier in featureless trading.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP)—Trading was dull on Montreal bond markets. Few price changes were recorded.

On the corporate market Brazilian Traction 4¾s of 1970 gained one point at 91½ bid in a small turnover. The BA Oil convertible 3½s of 1962 moved up ½ at 109 bid. Interest was also shown in Brazilian Traction 4½s of 1971, CPR 3½s of 1966 and CPR 4s of 1969 but prices were unchanged.

Beria's Old Power Thoroughly Split

LONDON (Reuters) — The [illegible] taken steps to ensure that a new Beria does not [illegible] in Russia.

By [illegible] a recent government reorganization state security and internal security [illegible] one ministry and one state committee under a chairman.

Neither the minister of internal affairs, Col. Gen. Sergei N. Kruglov, nor the newly appointed chairman of the state security committee, Col. Gen. A. I. Serov, has a fraction of the power which Beria wielded before his arrest last summer.

Neither is a member of the Kremlin "inner circle." They [illegible] orders from above. And today these orders come from the Kremlin's top men, Premier Georgi Malenkov, party first secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev and their colleagues.

TREMENDOUS POWER

Fourteen months ago, when Stalin died, Beria was one of the "big three." He wielded tremendous political power. Charges made against him after his arrest included putting his own nominees into key posts in various parts of the USSR.

Today the men heading the Soviet apparatus for security, terror, espionage and counter espionage are officials who do not directly influence policy. They are members of the central committee of the Communist party, completely subordinate to its praesidium, which is the real seat of political power in Russia.

The praesidium comprises Malenkov and a dozen of his colleagues, including Khrushchev and Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

Moreover the splitting of the ministry of internal affairs into two components, accomplished as a part of the government reshuffle April 27, ensures that neither Kruglov nor Serov has absolute control of the security apparatus.

Financial Woes Cut Traffic Toll

BY IAN MACDONALD

When the mass of the city's citizens are struck simultaneously by bills and payment-due periods, they can take some small consolation from the fact that they stand less chance of becoming involved in a traffic accident.

When budgets are struck by the aftermath of Christmas shopping, car registration fees, income tax payments and the like, less driving is done and accidents take a corresponding drop, states Sergeant Brooke Douglass, city traffic department head.

Accident figures for the first three months of 1954 stand at 223, a drop of seven over the corresponding figure for last year.

Victoria recorded one traffic fatality in March this year, and to the end of the month 58 persons had been injured during the first quarter.

During the same period last year no fatalities occurred and only 54 persons were injured.

Accident and casualty figures in Victoria show the same trend every year, says Sergeant Douglass. March, April and May are usually light months.

A pronounced upward swing occurs in June, lasts until August, then tapers off for three months. December, January [illegible] the worse.

"The purse strings' effect on accidents is quite impressive," according to the sergeant. Strain on finances means less money for driving and it is very noticeable in March and April when bills come hot and heavy.

Mental Patients Nearly Half Total

B.C. mental hospitals are caring for 6,[illegible] persons, almost as many patients as there are in all the general hospitals put together.

This was one of several facts disclosed yesterday by deputy provincial secretary R. A. Pennington to emphasize the importance of mental health week, now being observed throughout Canada.

"Mental health week will help [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] the resources of the province caused by treatment of mental illness," Mr. Pennington said.

In B.C., he said, 2,500 people enter mental hospitals every year and 2,[illegible] are discharged. [illegible] mental hospitals must find room for 300 new cases each year.

"It will continue to expand like this," he said, "until mental illness is given the same attention with regard to early treatment as in other crippling diseases."

"Mental health must be [illegible] [illegible]."

He said that 45 to 50 per cent of all Canadian hospital beds are being used for mental patients.

British Columbia will spend about $10,000,000 this year for the care and treatment of mentally ill persons. It will spend $80,000,000 in the next 10 years, and in addition to $3,000,000 for new buildings to house patients.

Meanwhile, Vancouver will observe mental health week with five meetings sponsored by the B.C. Division of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

Now – a truck tire so new it's years ahead of its time!

GOODYEAR TRACTION HI-MILER
features many great advances in truck tire design!

Right from the basic carcass through to its huskier 5 rib tread, the Traction Hi-Miler is entirely new.

So new, in fact, that it outdates all other highway transport tires now on the road!

LESS SIDE-SLIP THAN ANY OTHER RIB TRANSPORT TIRE

Here—for the first time in truck tires—is a slotted tread design. Result: scores of sharp, gripping edges that grab the road—give you 25% more traction and side-skid resistance than any other rib transport tire!

TREAD CRACKING CUT TO A BARE MINIMUM

In ordinary tires, the cord fabric heats up, stretches out of shape. This causes tread cracking.

Now Goodyear announces a great new development—Triple-Tempered 3-T cords (both rayon and Nylon). This exclusive Goodyear process ... requiring Time, Temperature and Tension ... "sets" the cords at their maximum strength and resiliency. Result: they don't stretch out of shape—tire growth is controlled—tread cracking is reduced to a bare minimum! This new cord is stronger, too—gives greater bruise resistance—sharply increases tire life.

MORE RECAPS

Because the new cord fabric is stronger, tougher—and because the tire runs cooler—the new Traction Hi-Miler is in better condition for repeated recaps. You get all the original mileage plus bonus mileage from multiple recaps!

SEE YOUR GOODYEAR DEALER

He can tell you all the reasons why the all-new Traction Hi-Miler is so far in advance of any other transport tire. Let him show you how you can save money by equipping your trucks now with this great new tire. It's available in either rayon or Nylon cord construction.

The pleasure's all yours

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

88 98

What's your pleasure, sir? Is it a breezy "loafers and sport-shirt" outing—a gay "white-tie and tails" evening — or a little of both? You'll find the gay versatility of Oldsmobile deepens your enjoyment of any event.

There's something so heartwarming in just the look of the car — long, low, and sleek, with a lively harmony of glamorous colors. Then, there's the sense of power you get from the history-making new edition of the famous "Rocket" engine. And this great, high-compression 185 h.p. power plant is so beautifully balanced by Oldsmobile's superb riding qualities that you're cradled in comfort, ease and safety, always.

But words can only tell you so much! We suggest you let your eyes and driving experience tell you the full story of this year's magnificent 88 and 98 Oldsmobiles. Ask your nearest dealer to let you get behind the wheel. And from the moment you turn the ignition key, you'll find the pleasure's all yours — in more ways than you believed possible.

TV Talk

BY ROY PARRETT

The movie industry, which for several years did everything it could to kill television, is climbing on the TV bandwagon at last. All of the big studios are getting into the new medium, by one means or another.

... wood, and the viewer will get the benefit of the Hollywood techniques and the vast sets.

The real estate situation in New York is not suitable for a mushrooming industry like television. Both NBC and CBS have already outgrown their present studios. Hence the move to California.

Jackie Gleason ... move his entire show to the West Coast next fall. Half of Milton Berle's programs will come from sunny California, too. Other shows will follow.

Before long the TV capital will be located in the movie market place, Hollywood.

* * *

KMO-TV ... in accordance with the station's new economy policy. Programs resume Wednesday at 6 p.m.

CBUT's "Range Rider" stars six-foot-four Jack Mahoney, marine fighter pilot and Hollywood stunt man, as TV's newest frontier hero at 5:30 tonight ... An hour of music is featured on the channel 2 station at 6 ... the popular CBC Television News follows at 7.

This week's episode of "I Led Three Lives" shows how Communists infiltrated into a large gun factory ... at 8:30 on KTNT-TV.

Martha Wright, singing star of "South Pacific," starts a new program on KING-TV tonight ...

... at 8:30 ... Ray Middleton ... with her in "South Pacific."

"Dividing Line" ... corruptible small town ... Tune ... out what happens.

Gail Patrick and Nancy Kelly star in "Women in ..." on KVOS-TV at 9.

The current Army-McCarthy hearings are slated for KTNT-TV at 11:15 and on KING-TV at 11:30. KOMO-TV will also carry highlights of the hearings throughout the week.

Atomic Sub No Match For New RCN 'Chaser'

MONTREAL (CP) A veteran naval expert said Sunday Canada's new submarine chaser would be capable of destroying the United States atomic submarine Nautilus, "before she could become effective."

Capt. Frank Freeborn, chief naval overseer at Canadian Vickers plant here, said he would back HMCS St. Laurent, prototype of 14 Canadian-built the latest type submarine.

"The St. Laurent will be the finest up-to-date submarine killer in the world," he said in an interview.

Capt. Freeborn said the reason he thought the St. Laurent would be more than a match for the much-publicized atomic powered submarine was the Canadian vessel's speed.

"In a theoretical battle the St. Laurent could pick up the Nautilus before she became effective."

The river-class submarine chaser, launched here in 1951, runs in the summer of 1955.

A sister ship, the Ottawa, is in final stages of construction. A third vessel, yet to be named, is also being built here.

A $1,000 prize will go to a young Victoria boy if one wins the Optimist International Oratorical contest in Houston, Texas, later this spring.

Eighteen boys, all under the age of 16, will start in an elimination contest, sponsored by the Victoria Optimists, on Thursday.

For the past several months these boys have been receiving instruction from Miss M. Bagshaw, well-known Victoria public speaking teacher, and have been learning how to present themselves both from the standpoint of poise and diction.

Six out of the 18 boys will be selected to compete in an elimination contest to be held in the Salvation Army Hall, May 13 at 7.30 p.m.

The winner of this contest will be sponsored by the Victoria Optimist Club to compete at the 13th District Optimist Convention at Yakima, Wash., where boys from at least 20 Optimist clubs in the Pacific Northwest will compete for the honor of representing the district at the International Optimist Convention to be held in Houston, Texas.

The winner of the Houston contest is annually awarded $1,000 and runners-up receive valuable awards.

ART DISPLAY

In conjunction with the elimination contest here on May 13 there will be a display of art work done by another group of junior Optimists. Woodwork and model yacht building, both projects of the Optimist Centre will also be on display.

Highlight of the evening's entertainment will be the first public appearance of the newly-organized Junior Optimists Harmonica Band.

Annual peanut campaign of the Optimists will be on May 25, 26 and 27.

Most of the season's hats are definitely level-headed, but if you simply cannot feel right wearing yours in that fashion, don't do it. You can find some very smart styles that are quite tiltable.

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:

LARGE BILLS And How to pay them

Most people spend large sums of money only when they know where the money is coming from. But there are some bills that you just can't plan for. For instance, car smash-ups, unexpected medical expenses, fires, thefts and anything completely out of your control; bills . . . that hit you like a bolt out of the blue. These large bills are often a serious concern to a family. That's when a Niagara loan can really be of help. At any rate there are a lot of letters in our office which were written by people who certainly think our service was a mighty fine answer to this difficult kind of problem. You'll find if you inquire, that friendly loans at Niagara Finance often have lower rates. Another point about Niagara, loans to $1500 are life-insured at no extra cost to you. If you have a large unexpected bill which you can't handle why not drop in or phone; we'll be glad to see you.

Ex-Queen Marries Young Physician

CAIRO (UP)—Former Queen Narriman married a young $140-a-month physician Monday, but was immediately separated from him until the sacred Moslem month of Ramadhan has passed.

Ramadhan, the month of fasting, beings today.

Narriman wed Dr. Adham el Nakeeb in a kissless private ceremony at her suburban home. Only 10 guests, members of the couple's immediate families, attended.

It was a marked contract to Narriman's marriage to former King Farouk, which was surrounded by a blaze of publicity and the magnificence and luxury of the Egyptian monarchy.

Narriman did not attend the actual ceremony Monday, following Moslem tradition. She appeared at a reception dressed in a white silk cocktail dress.

The traditional ice rosewater and sugar-coated almonds were passed around to reception guests.

DEFINITELY NOT

Asked if the handsome doctor kissed the bride, a family spokesman indignantly replied: "Certainly he did not. We are Oriental people."

Narriman, who once said she never wanted to be queen anyway, had her marriage to Farouk dissolved by the High Shariah Court earlier this year.

The ceremony was in Narriman's Heliopolis suburban home, where she once took boarders to pay expenses following her separation from Farouk.

The newlyweds were united briefly at the reception. Today el Nakeeb returns to Alexandria, where Narriman will join him in a month.

Adham had put up $280 in advance on his dowry, in keeping with the Moslem custom which makes the man, not the woman, pay. But as to a honeymoon, he said, "We don't have enough money to go to Europe on a honeymoon."

It was "love at first sight" when he first met Narriman last summer, the young doctor said. He proposed after learning she had started divorce proceedings against Farouk.

"And she said yes immediately," the doctor said. He earns $140 a month at present. His father was a close friend of the exiled king.

Two Hurt in Accidents

George Millward, 66, of 555 Kenneth Avenue, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital yesterday morning complaining of back injuries after a two-car crash at the Douglas round about.

About 8.30 a.m. his auto was in collision with one driven by George A. Batterbury, 5354 Parker.

Three-and-a-half-year-old Stuart Wallace, 4331 Denman, escaped with abrasions after he ran into a car shortly after noon yesterday.

G. J. Keeper, 1144 Westall, told police he was driving north on [illegible] when the child ran into the side of the car at the Denman intersection. He was treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

James Parr, of Park Forest, Illinois, comments on a curious coincidence in connection with this deal. In a recent column, we published a hand in which the crucial point was that one of the players had the deuce of clubs, rather than some other deuce. On that same day, reports Mr. Parr, this deal was played and the same deuce was equally significant. If it had been the deuce of hearts that dummy held, he notes, the contract would not have been made.

The hand involved a play so spectacular that no single one could recall a game in which this play, the smother, had ever occurred.

West opened the queen of clubs and continued with the jack. He then switched to a small spade, which was won in dummy with the seven. South got to his hand with a heart and led a spade to the nine. The finesse succeeded, but East showed out and apparently South would have to lose a spade and a diamond.

However, the hand was saved because of dummy's deuce of clubs. South cashed the last two hearts, being careful to discard a diamond from dummy. Then he led to the diamond ace and trumped the deuce of clubs. Next the diamond king was cashed, and South got out of his hand with the third diamond. If West had held the winning diamond, he could have led a low trump and knocked out North's ace, establishing his king as the setting trick. But when East won the third diamond, West's king, despite the fact it was guarded whereas North's ace was blank, was as vulnerable as Richard III caught without an equine quadruped. Whatever East led, South could trump with an honor and West could decide whether to overtrump or undertrump, but he could not win a trick either way.

Former Speaker of House, John W. Jones Dies

BY JAMES K. NESBITT

John William Jones, 84, for 17 years a member of the legislature, Mr. Speaker, and later minister of finance in the Conservative government of Dr. S. F. Tolmie, 1928-33, died suddenly yesterday. Funeral is scheduled for Thursday.

During all those years Mr. Jones was a leading provincial politician, a political fighter of no mean repute a controversial figure when he was in charge of the province's finances. For years, in opposition, he was chief critic for the Conservatives of Liberal financial policies.

Tom Uphill, the only man now in the legislature who was also there in Mr. Jones' day, recalls: "He was a good speaker ... a scrappy little man all the time, kindly and popular with everybody."

Mr. Jones was minister of finance during the hungry 30's, and few finance ministers in B.C. history had so difficult a task as he trying to make ends meet, while revenues dropped and breadlines grew and the unemployed hammered on his door for relief.

Born in Utica, Ontario, September 25, 1869, Mr. Jones came west as a young man. He settled in the Okanagan, becoming a prosperous merchant of Kelowna. From 1912 to 1917 he was mayor of Kelowna.

He was first elected to the legislature in 1916, for South Okanagan, the seat now held by Premier Bennett. Before that election the Conservatives held 38 seats. When the votes were counted they were down to nine, and "Jimmy Jones was one of the survivors.

SEEMED FINISHED

The Conservatives seemed finished, and so they were for 12 years. All that time Mr. Jones sat in the opposition in the legislature beating the Conservative drum under three Liberal premiers, Harlan Carey Brewster, 1916-17; John Oliver, 1917-27; Dr. J. D. MacLean, 1927-28.

As chief Conservative financial critic he battled from 1916 to 1924 with the Liberal finance minister John Hart. In political retirement both Mr. Hart and Mr. Jones went into the Victoria financial business.

In 1928 came the day of political triumph. J. W. Jones had battled for and helped win. The Conservatives under Dr. Simon Tolmie, were elected.

At the first session under Tolmie Mr. Jones was elected Mr. Speaker.

In the autumn of 1930, he was appointed to the cabinet as minister of finance succeeding Hon. W. C. Shelly.

As minister of finance Mr. Jones was up against the constant onslaught of Liberal leader T. D. Pattullo, who determined to throw the Conservatives out of office which he did in 1933. Among them into political oblivion went "Jimmy" Jones.

DEPLETED CITY FIRE STAFF FACING FURTHER REDUCTION

Interesting Exhibits at Fair Fascinate Young and Old

"Oh! How does it stay in the air?" asks Mrs. June Hodge, 590 Boleskine Road, bewildered at the floating globe in an exhibit at the B.C. Products and Agriculture Fair. She was one of about 12,000 who attended on opening day yesterday.

Industry and agriculture are well represented at the B.C. Products Fair. Little three-and-a-half-year-old Dalas Smith, 1650 Broadmead Avenue, mounted one of the bright, new tractors on display and would have driven away except his legs were too short.

"Step right up, ladies and gentlemen," goes the cry of the traditional carnival barker to be heard at the fair. But it didn't take a barker to get 16-year-old Joan Smithson, 2649 Thompson, to step up to the floss candy stand. She never had tried it before but she likes it. (See Page 15.)

Cuts Asked By Council

Chief Declares Protection Not Adequate in Major Blazes

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

Staff reductions in the fire department were called for last night by city council to offset increases in departmental expenditures this year.

Fire Chief Frank Briers, who told aldermen his force was already so depleted that major fires this year had left the rest of the city virtually unprotected, was ordered to bring in a report today showing how savings can be made.

Council postponed consideration of the fire department estimates pending receipt of the report.

The fire department expects to spend $426,959 in 1954. This total does not include the 3 per cent $13,295 wage increase won by firefighters this year.

Mayor Harrison opened debate on fire department estimates by saying it appeared "there ought to be a reduction."

He suggested that perhaps another fire hall should be closed.

(Council closed the Yates Street fire hall in 1952 and reduced staff when firemen won a 17 per cent wage increase.)

Ald. Robert Macmillan asked the mayor which firehall he would recommend closing.

JAMES BAY HALL

The mayor suggested the James Bay Hall, adding that he understood Chief Briers had recommended such a move.

"At no time have I recommended closing any hall," countered Chief Briers.

Ald. Brent Murdoch asked if it would be possible to close the Burnside hall and open a small hall in Victoria West in order to give greater protection.

"It would give greater protection to Victoria West," replied the chief.

"Would it cost less?"

"No."

Chief Briers said his department had been so depleted that during the outbreak of major fires this year the city was lucky no other big fires broke out while they were in progress.

Ald. Millard Mooney said four men are on duty per shift at city halls. He suggested this might be cut to three men, but did not favor cutting out another fire hall.

CUT FAVORED

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow also favored cutting staff but not closing another hall to absorb the increase in estimates.

The mayor asked Chief Briers to bring in a recommendation to council "adjusting" the increase.

Alderman Macmillan observed it is unfortunate that it is usually the ones who have had no part in attempting to secure wage increases who turn out to be the ones who are let out.

"The top brass—the ones who have been agitating for these increases are left intact," he said.

Council adjourned discussion of fire department estimates pending receipt of the chief's recommendations today.

Consideration of police estimates, also swelled by a 3 per cent wage increase, were tabled indefinitely pending action by the police commission which is studying possible ways of reducing the departmental budget.

Aldermen Cut Costs $116,818

City council, after three days of study, has reduced the 1954 budget by $116,818, or some 2.07 mills.

Council began last Thursday with a provisional budget calling for a tax rate of 56½ mills, a half-mill increase over last year's rate.

Aldermen, however, started looking for savings in anticipation of a mill rate of 57.74 to cover the half-mill increase in over-all expenses, the possibility of having to pay a 3-per-cent wage increase to inside and outside employees, and of having to increase charitable grants by some $20,000.

Budget review continues at 10 a.m. today.

French Spurn Surrender Demand

Communist Big Guns Pound Defenders of Dien Bien Phu

HANOI (Tuesday) (UP)—Communist big guns and heavy mortars smashed at Dien Bien Phu today after the beleaguered French garrison defiantly spurned Red demands that it "surrender or die."

The Communist artillery opened up with a saturating fire as determined Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries sent out small French patrols to probe for weak spots in the choking Rebel ring around Indo-China's key fortress.

The Communist attackers demanded Monday over loudspeakers set up on the battlefield that the weary French defenders surrender. The French high command's answer was a defiant notice it was pouring more reinforcements into the besieged fortress.

PLANES ROAR IN

U.S.-supplied Corsair fighter-bombers, flown by French pilots roared in today under low clouds in frantic efforts to aid the small garrison now operating in an area less than a mile square.

Despite the Communist artillery barrages, de Castries was countering Viet Minh slices into his dwindling territory with swift strengthening of the French defenses.

Today's Red artillery barrage broke a lull which followed the week-end mass attack against the French fortress.

The Reds abruptly broke off their mass assault on the key fortress of Indo-China after the slashing bayonets of French foreign legionnaires had thrown it into reverse. They drove the enemy from outpost Isabelle.

Red Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap then swung over to a propaganda offensive. Loudspeakers set up on the shell-torn and blood-soaked battlefield blared a demand that Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries "surrender or die."

Direct Help Favored

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican leader William Knowland said Monday night he would lead a Senate fight to send United States troops to Indo-China if President Eisenhower decides it is necessary.

"I do believe Indo-China is the key to southeast Asia, and south-east Asia is the key to the balance of Asia," he said.

Senator Knowland said he believed the French and British at the Geneva conferences are prepared to negotiate a Far Eastern "Munich" by yielding to Communist pressure.

NURSE GENEVIEVE DE GALARD TERRAUBE

Gallant Nurse Honored

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters) — Nurse Genevieve de Galard Terraube, the only woman in the beleaguered garrison of Dien Bien Phu, has been awarded the Legion of Honor, one of France's highest awards, it was learned Monday.

Gen. Christian de Castries, commander of the hard-pressed garrison, pinned the decoration on the slim, 29-year-old Parisienne as rebel shells crashed on Dien Bien Phu.

Genevieve, a pretty, chestnut-haired air force pilot-nurse, has been in Dien Bien Phu ever since rebel fire disabled her helicopter March 28. For five weeks, she has been on duty day and night caring for 800 wounded men in dimly-lighted underground shelters.

She is the daughter of a viscountess and a member of one of France's oldest military families.

Parley Funds Cause Sparks

Question of sending civic officials to professional conventions caused sparks to fly last night as aldermen continued review of the city budget.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow objected to spending $2,537 to send 13 officials to 23 conventions this year.

The mayor agreed.

"What good does it do?" he asked.

Ald. William Pinfold replied that any "solid businessman send his key employees to professional conventions to learn new ideas."

"They don't send their men to Harrison Hot Springs for a drunk," returned the mayor.

Alderman Edgelow said only $833 should be included to allow the city manager, the comptroller, the engineer and the fire chief to attend conventions this year.

"Surely we are not going to pull a hood over our heads and not let our employees know what others are doing in other municipalities," argued Alderman Pinfold.

SAVE THOUSANDS

"One idea that one employee brings back is liable to save this city thousands of dollars," he said.

Ald. Brent Murdoch suggested the total be reduced by only $537.

"You can leave me out," said City Manager Cecil Wyatt. "I wouldn't go under any circumstances after some of the remarks made here tonight."

The manager said the conventions list was a very selective one.

"The value that will come back from these trips is immeasurable," he advised.

Alderman Edgelow withdrew his original motion.

Alderman Pinfold moved that the $2,537 item be left in the budget, but Alderman Murdoch's amendment that the total be reduced by $537 passed by a vote of 4 to 2 with Alderman Edgelow refraining from voting.

Earlier the mayor had objected to the city remaining a member of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

"I don't see what good we get out of the UBCM," he said. "I don't see where we get one dollar's advantage. We get stuck every time."

An item in the budget calling for expenditure of $3,000 on public relations in 1954 included $1,500 for playing host to the UBCM during its annual convention here in the fall.

Alderman Murdoch agreed that every member who attended the last UBCM convention in Vancouver felt it was a waste of time because it dealt only with minor briefs for submission to the government.

"They could be a powerful organization but as they exist they aren't," he said.

"I'm against going on as a member of the UBCM," said the mayor. "It's purely humbug."

The mayor said Victoria was stuck with entertaining UBCM delegates this year, "but I hope next year we're out."

Korean Hopes Shattered

GENEVA (UP)—Communist China Monday shattered the last chance for agreement on Korea here with a bitter statement demanding that the United States repatriate more than 48,000 Communist war prisoners who have refused to return to their homelands.

Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai told the Geneva conference that the Chinese and North Korean prisoners are forcibly held. He proposed a repatriation plan which was immediately rejected by the United States.

However, the stage was set for prompt opening of Indo China peace talks, probably by mid-week. The West was readying a plea for a truce to permit evacuation of wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

Chou charged that more than 27,000 North Korean and Red Chinese prisoners were "forcibly retained" by the South Koreans "with connivance of the U.S.," starting on June 18 1953, and were "impressed into" the ROK army.

McCarthy Hearings May Be Speeded Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Everett Dirksen said Monday night "serious consideration" is being given to limiting further testimony in the McCarthy-Pentagon hearings to Army Secretary Robert Stevens and Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Dirksen said he sponsored a motion adopted at a closed meeting of the Senate investigating committee to have counsel for all interested parties canvass methods of speeding up the hearings.

Monday night's speed-it-up meeting was held after John G. Adams, army counsel, took the stand briefly for the first time and sharply debated with McCarthy the meaning of a press release.

In the wake of this exchange, Stevens denied any knowledge that Adams—as the McCarthy side charged—made threats to issue a "smear" report against McCarthy's chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, early this year.

Malaya Reds Slay Mates

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (CP)—More than 40 "politically unreliable" Communist terrorists have been shot, strangled or beaten to death by their comrades after jungle trials in a widespread purge, British army sources disclosed Monday.

Battle Stations! Atom Bomb! Full Ahead!

Small Boy in Command

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — The U.S. destroyer O'Bannon Monday was temporarily under the command of a small Australian boy.

The tyke was one of 10,000 visitors who went aboard the American warship in the harbor.

As soon as he boarded the ship, he scampered to the bridge. This is what happened then:

1. He sounded the general alarm, calling the crew to battle stations.

2. He set off the chemical alarm used during atomic attacks.

3. He ordered the ship "full speed ahead" over the vessel's engine-room telegraph and sounded a blast on the whistle.

Lieut. J. J. Bean raced to the bridge as the lad was "sending" a message over the O'Bannon's signal lamp to the U.S. aircraft carrier moored astern.

Bean relieved him of his command and he was taken ashore under escort.

Loud Malta Greeting Pauses for Unveiling

VALLETTA, Malta (Reuters) —Malta cut short a noisy welcome for two minutes of silence Monday as Queeen Elizabeth unveiled a memorial to 2,300 Commonwealth airmen killed in defense of this Mediterranean island.

For the rest of the day, cheering crowds, church bells, sirens and fireworks greeted the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

It began early Monday when the Royal couple arrived here aboard the Royal yacht Britannia. A 21-gun salute was all that could be heard above the cheering.

HORNS IN

The noisy welcome followed the Queen as she drove through Valletta's narrow, ancient streets. An escorting car got into the act when its horn jammed. The duke put his hands to his ears.

British and Australian airmen formed a guard of honor as Queen Elizabeth unveiled the 50-foot marble column.

"If we show in all our dealings the same integrity of purpose and same resolution in fulfilling it as shown by them in war," she said, "we shall be able to extract from the dark and desperate difficulties which beset us a victory no less glorious than that which we commemorate here today."

Prince Charles and Princess Anne stayed on the yacht as the Queen and the duke went ashore for a five-day visit.
